UNCLE SAM'S BILL, 1907: $900,000,000

Appropriations for Next Fiscal Year Reach the Biggest Total in History of Congress.

TREASURY STANDS STRAIN

Surplus of $17,000,000 Despite Enormous Drain, Brings Boast "This Is a Billion Dollar Nation."

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—In order to meet the expenses of the government generally and to continue the work of building the Panama canal, congress has been compelled, during the session now ending, to dip more deeply into the public treasury than ever before in American history. Appropriations have been authorized which are expected to total in the neighborhood of $900,000,000. The exact figures are not available, because the general deficiency and public building bills have not been passed by the house and three appropriation bills, the sundry civil, naval, and military academy bills, are still in conference. But statisticians in the two houses who have been laboring with their pencils, now for the next few days will witness the adjournment of congress, and they have come to the conclusion that the high water mark in appropriations, which was reached at the last session, will be washed away by the record the present session will make.

In view of this enormous drain the country will be put to, it is a matter of gratification to Secretary Shaw and other officials of the government that there promises to be a handsome surplus in the treasury when the fiscal year ends next Saturday.

Canal Appropriation Big Drain.

In comparison with the appropriations made during the present congress the surplus looks small, but it amounted yesterday to $17,500,000, and had it not been for the extraordinary expense of $18,000,000 imposed upon the revenues in connection with the construction of the Panama canal it would have been at least $36,000,000.

Secretary Shaw well understands it is not possible to say what the revenues will be during the next fiscal year. The era of prosperity which now prevails may be succeeded by hard times, though there is not even a cloud to indicate anything of the kind. But if conditions which existed during the last year continue there is no reason why there should be a deficit at the end of next fiscal year in spite of tremendous appropriations authorized by congress.

A comparison of the appropriation bills which have passed with those enacted last session establishes the fact that Representative Tawney of Minnesota, who now holds the title "Watch Dog of the Treasury," has made every effort to prevent extravagance in the disbursement of public funds. Representative Tawney has encountered considerable difficulty in keeping the purse strings taut, as there have been any number of attempts made to cut them in order that the golden streams might flow into irregular channels.

Ship Subsidy Bill Sidetracked.

For instance, there is the ship subsidy bill, which passed the senate and which has been lodged up in the merchant marine committee house, thanks to the indefatigable efforts of Representative Wilson of Chicago and others who have fought it strenuously.

The agricultural bill carries a larger appropriation than ever before; the army bill is about the same as that of last year; there has been an increase in the diplomatic and consular bill; the District of Columbia receives about the same amount as last year; a saving of more than a million has been made in fortification expenditures; a slight increase has been granted Indians; there has been a change over last year in legislative, executive, and judicial expenses; the expenses of the military academy have doubled.

The naval expenditures continue to total $100,000,000; pensions cost a little more; the postoffice bill carries $198,000,000, which is an increase of $17,000,000; the sundry civil bill, which was discussed in conference, will aggregate anywhere between $94,600,000, the amount granted by the house, and $102,000,000, the total given by the senate. The deficiencies will reach about $31,000,000, though this is not certain, as the bill for this purpose has not even been reported by the house.

The public building bill will net $21,000,000. Besides the amounts carried in the regular appropriation bills, permanent annual appropriations have been increased to about $175,000,000. Congress has made extraordinary appropriations of $11,000,000 for the Panama canal; $2,600,000 for the relief of San Francisco sufferers; $5,000,000 in connection with statehood legislation enacted during the session, and various other appropriations amounting to several million dollars.

Enormous Sum for Postal Service.

Enormous as is the appropriation for the postal service, the fact must not be lost sight of that that service, while not self-supporting, still by no means is a total loss to the people. The deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30 last was $14,572,000. In other words, this was the cost of the service to the people during that year. It is estimated the total postal revenue for the fiscal year 1907 will be $182,000,000, which would make the deficit $16,000,000, though Postmaster General Cortelyou estimated it would be less than $15,000,000. But the postmaster general based this estimate upon the expectation that congress would only appropriate $193,000,000, whereas it gave $5,000,000 more.

With the postal receipts swelling the total revenue derived from various sources, the treasury department expects to be able to strike a clean balance sheet at the end of the next fiscal year, especially as it will be able to take advantage of the authority granted to sell bonds, which will pay for the construction of the Panama canal. This will enable the reimbursement to the treasury of the sums expended in this work.

Representative Tawney is confident the people will approve of the manner in which congress has handled the country's funds.

"I think the appropriation will compare favorably with the estimates submitted by the various departments of the government," he said today, "and will total less than those made for the current fiscal year. Of course, some of the largest appropriations have yet to be passed, the sundry civil and naval bills. There is a difference of something like $5,000,000 between the house and senate over the sundry civil expenditures. The aggregate, including the permanent appropria-

ROOSEVELT'S DIET SIMPLE AS YOURS.

Breakfast, Eggs, Rolls, and Coffee; Lunch, Cold Meat; Dinner, Two Simple Courses.

TELLS REPORTER OF FARE

President Rebels at Story of Fancy Table d'Hote Meals and Denies He Is a Gourmand.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt is not an epicure, nor is he a gourmand. He himself is authority for the statement:

The president begins each strenuous day on a breakfast of hard boiled eggs, rolls, and coffee. His luncheon is even simpler. His evening meal, when left to his own desires, seldom strays beyond two courses.

For this revelation President Roosevelt himself is authority.

It was a special article in the Washington Post this morning which inspired the president to reveal how nearly the private White house table achieves the simple life ideal. The article went into details of the president's meals, how the marketing is done, and the kitchen arrangements. Also it presented some alleged White house menus.

Tells Reporter What He Does Eat.

The president read the article. Then he called up the editorial rooms of the Post on the telephone and asked that a reporter be sent to the White house at once, so he could tell the reporter what he really does eat.

The reporter went to the White house. After he returned he wrote this article, which will be published in the Post in the morning, and which was practically dictated by the president:

"When President Roosevelt is advertised as an epicure or gourmand he desires to make a correction. In this connection the president indicates that but one correct inference can be gleaned from the story appearing in the Post yesterday, which purports to describe at length the culinary department of the executive mansion, and that is, that the occupants of the White house partake of the ordinary three meals a day.

Feels It Is Time to Rebel.

"Upon the question of what the White house table is supplied with, where the viands were purchased, or how the meals were served, it can easily be gathered from the president's remark that the writer of the article had never taken 'bite or sup' in the White house during the present administration.

"The menu cards applied by the author of the executive mansion pure food story might be, indeed, interesting reading," suggested the president, "if they portrayed the facts. But when any one endeavors to create a widespread impression that the president and his family sit down to a four or five course breakfast, six or seven course luncheon, and ten course dinner, the president feels that a denial is not inappropriate.

"Instead of a breakfast consisting of:

Oranges. Cantaloupes.
Cereals.
Eggs. Bacon. Lamb chops.
Hot cakes. Waffles.

"President Roosevelt insists that the regular White house breakfast consists of:

Hard boiled eggs.
Rolls.
Coffee.

"Instead of a luncheon consisting of such delicious viands as:

Little neck clams.
Stuffed olives. Celery.
Consomme of chicken.
Fish saute. Eggs a la turque. Spring lamb.
New string beans. Asparagus.
Mashed potatoes. Lettuce. Tomatoes.
Strawberries and ice cream.

"President Roosevelt declares that when alone he always contents himself with:

A bowl of bread and milk.

Cold meat (if there is any left over).
Tea. Cantaloupe (in season).
Bread.

Dinner Seldom Over Two Courses.

"Instead of a ten course dinner, including almost everything in the list of edibles, the president declares that nine times out of ten a three course dinner is served, and the other time a two course dinner.

"The paragraph in the culinary story referring to the fact that the president and his family 'eat about the same things as are eaten by other American families in comfortable circumstances,' which the president declares to be accurate, is segregated from the balance of the story. But when taken in connection with the published menu cards the president sarcastically inquires how many comfortable American families serve such meals.

"Upon the statement that 'every article of food that goes to the White house table is carefully inspected,' the president humorously admits that the cook looks over the potatoes to see that no bad ones get into the pot, but that such espionage over edibles is all that is contemplated.

Story Might Be True, but Isn't.

"The assertion that the whole house marketing is all done at the central market might be true but for the fact that none of the marketing is done at Central market.

"Pickney, the White house steward, is credited with being clothed with entire authority in buying provisions. Sometimes, the president says, Pickney does buy some fruit, but he never buys other provisions. Special mention made of asparagus consumed at the White house as being purchased through the market is all wrong, declares the president, as all asparagus eaten at the White house comes from the president's estate at Oyster Bay.

"The interesting declaration that Quentin is permitted to have all the sugar he wants in his demi-tasse of coffee loses some of its flavor in the light of the president's declaration that Quentin never drinks coffee."

KAISER HUSTLES TO PLEASE.

Summons Princess in Hurry to Entertain the Longworths.

SOLVES PROBLEM BY WIRE.

Yacht Dinner with Royal Hostess Impossible; He Finds One.

KIEL, June 24.—Not to be outdone by his royal uncle of England, the emperor of Germany tonight fairly covered Congressman and Mrs. Longworth with glory.

The kaiser's code of domestic etiquette places a ban on the entertainment of women guests aboard the royal yacht Hamburg unless the empress or one of the imperial princesses is present. The day chosen by the Longworths to visit Kiel found the kaiser isolated from his women relatives. The Empress Augusta Victoria refrained from visiting Kiel in order to remain near the crown princess. Princess Henry of Prussia was traveling in Bavaria, and Princess Eitel Frederick, herself a bride, was in Potsdam.

But the kaiser is a marvel of resourcefulness. As soon as he was certain when Mr. and Mrs. Longworth would arrive a royal order went from Kiel to Potsdam by telegraph, and on a special train the Princess Eitel with her husband arrived in Kiel last night.

Wire to Princess Solves Problem.

The kaiser's problem was solved and an imperial invitation to dine tonight on the royal yacht awaited the Longworths when they came down to breakfast at their hotel today. The emperor's solicitation and the unusual effort he made to follow the example of King Edward in attentiveness to the daughter of President Roosevelt is the subject of much comment here.

The dinner on the royal yacht tonight was markedly an American affair. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, Allison, Howard, and George Armour, and Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Mott were present. Princess Eitel was amiable and Emperor William jolly and complimentary to America and Americans.

After the dinner the emperor and Princess Eitel with their guests and the emperor's staff went on the quarter deck of the Hamburg to witness the illuminations. The club house, the hotel, and other buildings were outlined in electric lights and the sixteen battleships, ten cruisers, twelve merchant ships, and 100 yachts in the harbor were strung with incandescent globes, while the scores of searchlights playing about made a fairylike scene.

Just above the room in the hotel occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Longworth were the stars and stripes in colored lights. A great assemblage from Kiel and neighboring towns crowded the water front to witness the illumination.

Longworths Stay Till Late at Night.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth were detained by Emperor William until after 11 o'clock. The illumination ended with every warship sending up blazing rockets.

The large class yachts raced again today. Emperor William took with him on board the Meteor Prince Adalbert and his three younger brothers and Commander William L. Howard, Commander Philip W. Dumas, and Capt. Jonquieres, naval attachés respectively of the United States, Great Britain, and France. He served all of them at lunch with his own hand, requiring the princes to come to him with their plates. The breeze was light and the emperor said it was not worth while sailing over the course and gave up the race. The yacht Hamburg did the nineteen knots under five hours, winning the race.

AUTOS INJURE 4 CHILDREN.

One Victim Likely to Die as Result of His Hurts.

BOY IS STRUCK IN MIDAIR.

Chauffeur Runs Into Machine Containing Three Infants; Wrecks It.

Automobiles were responsible for the injury to four children in Chicago yesterday and one of the victims is expected to die. The accidents occurred on the south side and in South Chicago.

The Injured.

ECKERT, WILLIAM, aged 14, 802 West Eighty-first street; probably fatally injured by electric automobile driven by Dr. J. C. Hoag.

STEGER, RUTH, aged 3; injured in wreck of automobile owned by W. R. Ashton, 9235 Winchester avenue.

The Eckert boy was struck by an electric machine at 3 o'clock. He was riding on the blind side of a Halsted street car, north bound, and was near Eighty-third street when he jumped from the car.

Boy Struck in Midair.

He was struck in midair by the automobile, which was going in the opposite direction. Dr. Hoag told the police that he was driving in the street car tracks to avoid the rough pavement, and that his machine was going at the rate of about seven miles an hour. He did not see the boy jump, he said, until it was too late to stop.

The boy fell to the pavement and was unconscious when assistance reached him. Dr. Hoag stopped his machine and returned to the scene. He was among the first to reach the injured boy, and with the assistance of several persons carried him to the home of C. W. McCain, 3826 Halsted street. The boy's limbs, which were fractured, were then bandaged, and the boy was later taken to his home by the police.

Dr. Hoag was going to Blue Island with his wife in response to a call when the accident occurred. He explained the affair to the police and as several witnesses verified it he was not arrested.

Children Hurt in Auto Crash.

A chauffeur was responsible for the injury to the Steger children. The children were sitting in Ashton's machine, near the curb of their home, when a machine driven by W. J. Rahn, 756 Clybourn avenue, crashed into them. The car was speeding at the rate of fifteen miles an hour and suddenly veered into the curb when it neared the point occupied by the machine containing the children. The front of Ashton's machine was wrecked and the glass from the wind shield was thrown on the children. Ruth, the oldest child, was severely cut about the head and shoulders and the others were thrown from the seat and severely bruised.

Rahn was arrested and will be prosecuted this morning on a charge of driving an automobile without a license. He is employed by Frank Diehl, 425 West Sixty-first street.

Use Stop Watch on Autorists.

Village officials at Wilmette resumed their activity against Sunday automobile scorching yesterday and four arrests were made. Fines of $15 each were imposed by Justice John Ling against the following:

Francis A. Hardy, 1214 Ridge avenue, Evanston.
C. A. Wheeler, 625 Wood court, Wilmette.
W. D. Horton, 2431 Jackson boulevard, Chicago.
W. H. Gois, Chicago Beach hotel, Chicago.

Woman Dies Under Burning Auto.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—One woman was burned to death and two other persons injured in the overturning and burning of an automobile in Pasadena today. The accident occurred while the machine was being driven at the rate of sixty miles an hour in Colorado street. Following the upsetting of the auto the engine exploded and Mrs. J. J. Cordori, 28 years old, who was pinned under the auto, was slowly roasted to death.

John Henderson, the chauffeur, was fatally injured, and Mrs. Ella May Morris, an artist living in Pueblo, Colo., was slightly injured. J. J. Cordori and C. White, the other occupants of the auto, escaped practically uninjured.

NEGRO ATTACKS LITTLE GIRL

Daughter of Policeman Is Seized and Choked by Youth.

SIMILAR CRIMES IN WEEK.

Ruffians Menace Children in All Sections of City.

Another assault on a child yesterday afternoon was added to the already long list of the last week. The daughter of a policeman is the latest victim. Ten year old Quenie Nohren was seized by a negro, dragged into the basement of her father's home at 584 Fulton street, and choked.

She struggled in vain to free herself, but succeeded in loosening the negro's grip on her throat and screaming. When her assailant heard help coming he fled. He was captured by the girl's father, Policeman Frank Nohren, of the West Lake street station and locked up.

Other Children Are Attacked.

During the week past five other little girls were menaced by assailants and these outbreaks of ruffianism have not been confined to any particular section of the city. Elsie Osterberg, aged 9, 1003 Avenue M, South Chicago, and Esther Carlson, aged 7, were the first victims. They were knocked down last Sunday by a man who was saved from lynching at the hands of pursuers by a moving train, which enabled him to flee.

John Holmes, aged 28, a negro, was captured last Monday by a crowd of men after he had enticed two girls into an alley at Rush and Erie streets.

On Monday evening Henry Kaylor was nearly lynched when he attempted to mistreat Margaret Engle, aged 5, 1488 North Washtenaw avenue.

Seized While Descending Stairs.

Policeman Nohren's daughter had been playing in the street near her home with a number of girl companions most of the afternoon and started to return to the house.

Just before she started down the stairway leading to the basement she saw somebody descending the stairs behind her, but thought the person some member of the family. When she had nearly reached the bottom of the stairway a man seized her in his arms. The child screamed for help, but her assailant placed a hand over her mouth to stifle her cries.

"Shut up, kid, or I'll cut your ears off," he exclaimed to the child as he threw her to the cement pavement at the bottom of the stairs, holding his hand on her mouth. The little girl tried to free herself in vain.

Father to the Rescue.

At this juncture the assailant heard hurried footsteps within the house, as members of the family were responding to the child's cries. He rushed up the stairs as the girl's father opened the door and saw his daughter lying in a faint.

Nohren saw the colored youth escaping and started in pursuit. The cries of the child had attracted the attention of neighbors and pedestrians, and when the fugitive tried to escape he was prevented by a gathering crowd.

Cries of "Hang him!" were heard, but Nohren appeared on the scene and seized the negro. Soon a patrol wagon appeared, and the man was put in it. As the wagon started away the crowd hurled stones at it.

At the police station the prisoner gave his name as Frank Anderson, and said he was 17 years old. He will be arraigned before Justice Eberhardt in the Warren avenue police station this morning.

The only injury suffered by the little girl was the nervous shock her experience caused.

Girl Rescued by Church Goers.

Worshipers returning from Holy Name cathedral at noon were attracted by a woman's cries for help from the Dearborn Avenue hotel, Dearborn and Chicago avenues. John E. Coleman, who was passing, with several others entered the hotel and located the cries in room 311. The door was broken in and Josie Olson, a maid, was found lying on the floor crying hysterically.

Harry J. Radde was standing in the middle of the room ready to fight the intruders, but he surrendered and was held by the porter. He escaped shortly afterward, but was recaptured last evening by Lieut. Collins of the East Chicago avenue station. He will be arraigned in the East Chicago avenue police court this morning.

The maid declared she was seized by the hair and dragged into the room by Radde while she was at work near by.

Suspects Confess Assault on Woman.

Confessions have been made to the police by Charles Cameron, Michael Judge, Michael Tracey, and Edward Gorman, youths who were arrested and charged with the assault on Mrs. Christine Thompson, 680 West Adams street, a week ago last Saturday night. They admitted also that they robbed the woman after first driving away Otto Skolen, 275 West Erie street, the woman's escort.

RIOTS, KILLINGS, HARANGUES MARK PANAMA ELECTIONS.

Day Opens with Fighting, Followed by Police Charge, in Which One Is Slain and Six Wounded.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1906: By the New York Herald.]

PANAMA, June 24.—The closing of the elections in Panama today was marked by violent disorders. Three men were wounded in fights earlier in the day, but late in the afternoon, in order to quell a serious disturbance, the police shot into a crowd of rioters, wounded six men and killed one.

Señor Arias, secretary of foreign affairs, favored calling upon the American marines, but President Amador said such action would have a bad political effect.

The city is being patrolled by squads of police armed with rifles. Further trouble is expected. The police are the chief cause of trouble, but frenzied speeches by liberal party leaders also are partly responsible.

The interior is quiet as far as can be learned. Liberals in several provinces refrained from voting.

Colon was entirely quiet. Gov. Magoon drove to all the voting booths today and was enthusiastically cheered by members of both parties.

The government was victorious in Panama in a majority of the districts.

FIANCE RETAKES 'KIDNAPED' GIRL.

Pastor Monroe's Pretty Daughter Grace Brought Back to Chicago by Prospective Husband.

HER FATHER OUTWITTED.

Young Couple Expect to Get Married Today if They Can Secure the Necessary License.

Miss Grace Monroe, whose father, the pastor of the Chicago Lawn Congregational church, forcibly took her to Centralia, Ill., last week in an attempt to break up a romantic infatuation, is back in this city feeling like a much kidnaped young woman. Her return was the result of a second and even more thrilling kidnaping, carried out by her affianced husband, William H. Leiferman, the 23 year old Chicago Lawn printer to whom the girl's parents object.

The recapture of the girl was effected by her fiancé and a friend Saturday night on a farm seven miles from Centralia, where her father had sequestered her. After two days of reconnoitering, signaling, and secret communication Leiferman invaded the farmhouse at nightfall and sought out his sweetheart.

Girl Is Brought Back to Chicago.

A quarrel with the father and mother was followed by a hand to hand encounter, in the midst of which the young suitor bundled the girl into his buggy and drove madly back to the railway station, where a train was taken for Chicago.

While reports thickened that the irate father was again lurking in the vicinity planning another kidnaping, Miss Monroe passed yesterday at the residence of Leiferman's family, Kedzie avenue and Sixty-third place. The prospective groom made a strenuous attempt to get a marriage license during the day, but did not succeed. Unless the girl is kidnaped again this morning the romantic young pair will try to be married today.

Deacons on the Pastor's Side.

The love affair with its attendant kidnapings has become a village problem in Chicago Lawn. The morning sermon at the Congregational church was forgotten when it became known that Miss Monroe was back and at the Leiferman residence. The indignation of the members of the congregation, who sympathize with the pastor in this difficulty, waxed great and resulted in a meeting of the deacons of the church in the afternoon. Leiferman was summoned to appear before them but he refused to go. The consensus of opinion at the meeting was that Leiferman's conduct was scandalous and that Pastor Monroe should be aided further in his attempt to break up the match.

Leiferman to the Rescue.

The kidnaping of Miss Monroe by her father occurred last Monday night. It was carried out successfully and the girl was in Centralia before morning. Leiferman left Chicago Friday morning and arrived at Centralia about the middle of the afternoon. He was accompanied by Frank Parks, who is a personal friend of both the Leiferman family and Miss Monroe. The girl was with her father and mother on the farm of a man named Jett, seven miles from the town. Jett is an old friend of the Monroes, and adjoining his farm is some property owned by the pastor.

Leiferman, Parks, and a guide drove out to the Jett farm Friday afternoon, and the suitor made certain that the girl was on the premises. He tried to send a note to her by a farm hand but failed, and the party then returned to the city.

Swain Wigwags in Vain.

The next morning Leiferman and Parks again drove to the farm in a pouring rain. They concealed their buggy in a copse and lurked about the place all day, trying to open communications with the beleaguered sweetheart. Once they saw her come out upon the porch. Then Leiferman, from the top of a rail fence behind the barn, wigwagged signals of approaching relief, but the girl failed to observe the signals.

The anxious swain then resorted to attempts to impress the natives of the countryside in his quest. He stopped a passing "hired man" and asked him to carry a note to Miss Monroe. The hired man looked the romantic young man from top to toe and silently shook his head, also sidestepping, and making off down the path with suspicious glances over his shoulder. Several hired men sidestepped in this fashion before Leiferman finally subsidized one to take word to the young woman.

Plans of Escape Made Known.

The note, which was successfully smuggled to Miss Monroe while she was feeding the chickens, informed her that a carriage would be in waiting behind the barn after dark. Miss Monroe passed up the chickens without ceremony and precipitated herself into the house to robe herself for her second romantic flight.

About dark Leiferman and Parks, who had been without food all day and who had been rained on at frequent intervals, boldly drove their buggy into the farmyard and drew up at the rear porch. The Rev. Mr. Monroe leaped out of a chair on the veranda at sight of the man to whom he had refused his daughter.

"What do you want here?" demanded the trembling pastor.

"I have come for Grace," imperturbably responded Leiferman.

"You cannot have her—you know you cannot—go away at once," said Mr. Monroe, alternately insistent and plaintive.

Stormy Scene in Farmhouse.

Leiferman and Parks walked calmly into the house, which by this time was in great commotion. Mrs. Monroe came running, followed by Miss Monroe, Farmer Jett, and a couple of hired men. The Rev. Mr. Monroe, pale and trembling, closed up the rear.

The party crowded into the sitting room of the farm house. Leiferman catching Miss Monroe in his arms and drawing her into a chair beside him. Dr. and Mrs. Monroe and Farmer Jett took up defiant positions in the only doorway of the room in order to block any attempt at escape on the part of the young couple.

The scene which followed was a stormy one. Mrs. Monroe wept and pleaded with Leiferman to give up her daughter and leave them in peace. Dr. Monroe took up the thread of the argument and firmly informed the young man that it was useless to press his suit further; he could not have the girl and he might as well go away.

"But I will have her, and I'll have her before I go away," retorted the printer. "Grace is past 18 and her own boss. She loves me and she wants to marry me. She wants to go with me now."

"Is this true, Grace?" asked Mrs. Monroe with a faint hope that the girl would reject the man.

"Yes, it is true," replied Miss Monroe. "I love Will and I want to go away and marry him."

"You are not worthy to be my daughter," cried Dr. Monroe, losing his temper and launching into an arraignment of the young man that was scathing beyond description.

The minister charged Leiferman with disgraceful conduct on several occasions and with systematically plotting to steal his daughter's affection. The pastor's language bristled with bitter invective, and in the stress of the stormy dialogue between the elder man and the suitor the lie was passed repeatedly.

"Well, I'm going away now, and if you won't let Grace go with me I'll come back tomorrow and get her," said Leiferman, rising to leave.

Farmer Jett's Sympathy Veers.

The young man and his faithful companion passed out of the house. Dr. and Mrs. Monroe led their daughter back into the sitting room, but Farmer Jett lingered outside talking to Leiferman. Jett appeared to be transferring his sympathy fromthe Monroes to Leiferman, and the latter was quick to take advantage of it. He secured permission from Jett to pass the night secretly in the barn.

"You can't tell what they'll do," said Leiferman. "They may try to take her away again, and I want to be on the spot if they do. Let me know if they are up to anything."

The young men were preparing to pass the night on the farm when the kitchen door opened and Miss Monroe stepped out to get a drink of water from the pail on the porch.

"Come on, quick now, Grace," called Leiferman.

Miss Monroe started down the steps, but instantly her father came running from the house, demanding the meaning of what he had heard.

"We were talking about Grace. That's all," said Leiferman. "We're going now."

Struggle in the Darkness.

Dr. Monroe took his daughter back in the house, and again the young men made as if to depart. Suddenly the door opened and Miss Monroe, with her hat and coat on, dashed out into the farmyard. At her heels was her father.

It was by this time 9 o'clock, and the farmyard was pitch dark. Leiferman was in the buggy and Parks was standing beside the wheel, when the girl came running from the porch, pursued by her father. Miss Monroe ran straight to the buggy, into which she was lifted by Leiferman, while Parks gave Farmer Jett a powerful shove that sent him plump into Dr. Monroe. The minister, thinking Jett one of his tormentors, seized him firmly about the waist and attempted to drag him away.

"Hold him tight," shouted Parks to the pastor as the two men struggled with each other in the dark.

Leiferman already was whipping up his horse and Parks ran alongside the buggy and leaped in. Fearing Dr. Monroe would pursue them, the young men drove their horse at top speed all the way back to Centralia. They were followed by another buggy, but this was said to be one they had hired for the purpose of misleading the Monroes should they give chase.

Arrived at Centralia, Leiferman took his fiancée directly to the railway station and purchased tickets for Chicago. They had more than an hour to await the train and there were some misgivings that the Monroes and Farmer Jett would arrive any minute and give battle.

Both Return to Chicago.

But Leiferman was prepared for this. He had spent Friday night enlisting the sympathies of the young men he found hanging around the barber shop and the village drug store, and these brave spirits were on hand at the railway station to lend assistance in time of need. But nothing happened to mar the success of the undertaking. No alarm was raised by the victim of the kidnaping, and none but the village blades knew aught of the occurrence till the next day.

Leiferman and his fiancée boarded the Chicago train at 11 p. m., and arrived in this city at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. They went immediately to the Leiferman residence, in Chicago Lawn, where Miss Monroe was welcomed by the family. Leiferman then started out on his quest for a marriage license. At the close of two hours' inquiry he satisfied himself that it was useless to try to get a license in Chicago on a Sunday.

Considered by Church Officers.

Returning from Chicago Lawn, the young man sat himself down on the front porch to ward off any possible kidnapers representing Dr. Monroe. About 3 o'clock he received a note from a deacon of the Congregational church asking him to appear at a meeting of the church officers at the residence of John F. Eberhart. Leiferman responded that he was "too busy" to attend the meeting.

The officers discussed the affair in all its phases and came to the conclusion that something ought to be done to prevent the marriage of Miss Monroe to Leiferman. But what to do the conferees could not decide.

So far as could be learned, Dr. Monroe practically has disowned his daughter. He made no attempt to follow the fleeing couple, and last night he was said to be still on the Jett farm, with no intention of interfering further in his daughter's affairs.

Miss Monroe Is Contented.

Miss Monroe was found by a TRIBUNE reporter last night at the residence of Leiferman's parents.

"I don't think my father will follow me," she said. "I was 18 last February and can do what I please. I was taken away against my will, and I was glad when Mr. Leiferman came for me. We are going to be married as soon as it can be arranged."

Leiferman recounted the story of the kidnaping with little variation from the foregoing version.

"We had an awful row in the house," he said, "and I didn't have any hope of getting her that night. I thought I would come back the next day. It was just by chance that Grace came out on the steps, and we got her away in the dark. We left her father and Jett fighting in the road. Dr. Monroe took Jett for me, you know, in the dark."

"Wedding Bells for Him."

Leiferman is employed as a printer by a tag printing firm at Halsted and Sixty-third streets.

"If any people in this town think they can break up my marriage they're going to get left," declared the young man. "We're going away just as soon as we can and get married, and then we're going to settle down right here. They've been trying to get me fired by my employers and expelled from the church, and now they're trying to turn Grace against me."

Whereupon he drew his sweetheart to his side and looked up into her eyes. Miss Monroe laid her hand caressingly on her prospective husband's head and beamed down upon him. Then she flitted back into the house and Leiferman resumed his vigil on the porch. At a late hour no more kidnaping parties had been sighted.

YOUNG MAN IS FATALLY SHOT.

Police Arrest Assailant of Stephen Bajerski, but Fail to Learn Motive of Attack.

Stephen Bajerski, aged 19, 42 Ingraham street, was shot in the left temple and fatally wounded by Frank Czernieski in front of 40 Ingraham street last night. Bajerski was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital. The police as yet have been unable to learn the cause of the shooting.

Bajerski at an early hour this morning had not regained consciousness, and a severe cross examination by the police of the Rawson street station had failed to draw a confession from Czernieski, who was arrested soon after the shooting.

According to witnesses of the deed, a personal grievance prompted the shooting.

Farewell to the Texans.

The Texas delegation of business men bade farewell to Chicago at a banquet given them by H. J. Pettengill, president of the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph company, at the Union League club last night. At the close of the banquet R. D. Bowen, chairman of the delegation, in a short address thanked the members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the Chicago Commercial association for the courtesies extended. The delegation leaves this morning for South Bend, Ind.

TELLS OF SEEING MISSING CHILDREN

Fisherman Declares He Saw Little Mary Faulkner Talking to a Negro.

AT WINDOW OF OLD MILL.

Kidnaping Theory Gains Credence, but Police Continue to Drag the Lake.

Oscar Lundquist, a fisherman living at Thirty-fifth street and Princeton avenue, told a new story to the police yesterday which added impetus to the search for negroes suspected of being concerned in the disappearance of Leonard and Mary Faulkner, children of John D. Faulkner, 3924 Langley avenue.

The fisherman said he had spent the afternoon at the Thirty-eighth street pier, where the children were seen last, and that some time around 6 o'clock he noticed a little girl wearing a green dress and saw her talking to a negro, who was in a deserted mill near the pier.

Will Search in Old Building.

"I saw the man beckon to the girl, and when she came under the window, which was four or five feet from the ground, they talked for a minute," he said. "I did not pay much attention to them, and when I looked up again both were gone. The window is on the east side of the building, and from where I sat the man looked like a negro. I did not see the boy."

The police did not put much faith in Lundquist's story, as they have tried to solve so many conflicting ones already, but a thorough search of the building for traces of the girl will be made today.

The old mill stands a few hundred feet from the breakwater. It is full of kindling wood and offers many advantages for hiding. There is a deep pit in one end. The building bears evidence of recent occupation. In one corner a place for a bed has been burrowed in the pile of wood. A newspaper of last Wednesday was found near this place.

Reward Will Be Offered.

In view of this possibility the police again examined Margaret McDermott, the schoolgirl who said she saw the two children on the pier with two colored men. She described Knotts, the one armed white man, and said she saw the two negroes approach the boy after Knotts had left the pier, and later all four walked in the direction of the mill.

The Illinois Central watchman at Thirty-eighth street declared his belief that tramps had taken the children, as he had had trouble with them recently in the old building.

The police rigged up new grappling hooks and spent the day searching along the piers, but nothing was found. Mr. Faulkner announced in the evening that a reward would be offered. Mrs. Faulkner was prostrated. She has a tenacious faith that she will see her children again.

Police Still Are Hopeful.

The police began work on the theory that the children were not lost in the lake, but may have wandered away in a different direction from that in which they were going when last seen by those who have any knowledge of the disappearance. Lieut. Sullivan thinks they may have walked out toward the edge of town and possibly out into the country. Descriptions of the children were sent to all police stations and the patrolmen in outlying stations were instructed to make a house to house canvass in quest of information concerning them.

Drowned Boy's Body Recovered.

The body of Lawrence Furlong, 11 years old, 839 Roscoe boulevard, who was drowned Saturday night while swimming in a clay hole at the Northwestern railroad tracks and Newport avenue, was recovered by the police.

INSIST TRADERS' SHALL PAY ITS POLICY HOLDERS IN FULL.

Chicago Law Firms Engaged to Push Vigorously Frisco People's Cases Against Insurance Company.

San Francisco, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—The policy holders of the defunct Traders' Insurance company of Chicago are to carry the war into the enemy's country. The Chicago law firms of Knapp, Haynie & Campbell and Buckley, Gray & Moore have been engaged to see that policy holders get their claims paid in full. A company has been organized for the purpose of compelling the Traders' to settle.

The general direction of the campaign will be in the hands of W. H. Metson, a lawyer of this city, who said tonight:

"We will accept no compromise from the Traders' until we have used all the means in our power to see that they pay their policy holders dollar for dollar."

Hundreds of letters are pouring into the newspaper offices here declaring that the writers are in need of flour—a portion of that 80,000 barrels so generously donated by the Minneapolis millers for the relief of the fire refugees. One writer says:

"I am one of the refugees and I have only received one cupful of flour since the earthquake. I was burned out and I am now living in a basement. I will be thankful for some of that flour

WORLD'S FAIR FOR LABOR.

GOMPERS SENDS MAN HERE TO BOOM UNION EXPOSITION.

Big Project Is Planned by Leader for Minneapolis Where Meeting Will Be Held Next November — All Classes of Artisans and Organized Workers Will Furnish Display, and the Support of 2,000,000 People Will Be Enlisted in Enterprise.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor sent representatives to Chicago yesterday to arrange for a "union exposition"—the newest thing in the way of world's fairs that yet has been conceived. The object of the fair is to celebrate the achievements of organized labor throughout the world and especially in the United States.

Minneapolis tentatively has been selected as the place for holding this novel exposition, and it is probable it will take place next November, at the same time the convention of the national labor body is in progress in that city.

Chicago unions and Chicago workingmen, however, are expected to contribute largely to the exhibition.

First Exploitation on Large Scale.

Max Morris, fourth vice president of the American Federation of Labor, who is in charge of the preliminary plans, outlined their scope in an interview at the Briggs house. Mr. Morris explained that the exploitation of union labor never has been attempted on such a scale as President Gompers has in mind. The aim of Mr. Gompers, he said, is to bring together the products of union workingmen in every branch of industry, to illustrate the superiority which is claimed for this class of goods, and also to demonstrate the growth of the union labor movement in the United States since its inception sixty years ago.

"There have been expositions in celebration of national political events," he said, "but never one to commemorate the industrial revolution which began with the formation of the first union of workers in this country. We propose to hold a world's fair of the unions."

Some idea of the character of the projected exposition may be gained by the announcement that 2,000,000 men, comprising the total membership of the American Federation of Labor, are expected to contribute to its success. Other countries also will be represented. There will be exhibits running the full gamut of industries in which union labor is interested.

Printers Give Figures on Strike.

Typographical union No. 16 gave out statistics covering a period of ten months, during which the members of the organization have been engaged in a strike to win the eight hour day in local printing offices. The total number of men thrown out of work by the strike at this time is said to have been 1,065, but the membership of the union, it is asserted, has increased 573 despite the strike. Twelve shops have conceded the eight hour day, it is asserted, since Jan. 1, while thirty more large concerns still are resisting the union. The idle members now number 430, of whom 255 are married, 161 are single, and 14 are boy apprentices. Only one death has occurred in the ranks of the printers since the strike began.

MAKE NEW SLUGGING ARREST.

Police Hold John Christianson, Madden Follower, on the Orders of Inspector Lavin.

In connection with the slugging of W. S. Edwards John Christianson, 35 years old, a union man, was arrested yesterday afternoon in a doorway at 142 Madison street.

Christianson is wanted by Inspector Lavin. When taken to the East Chicago avenue station no charge was placed against Christianson.

He will be brought before Inspector Lavin this morning and questioned. Christianson is known as "Heine," and is one of "Skinny" Madden's followers.

HANGS HIMSELF IN AN ATTIC.

Louis Kumpfer So Adjusts the Fatal Noose That No Air Is Left in His Lungs.

Louis Kumpfer, 35 years old, committed suicide yesterday morning by hanging himself in the attic at his residence, 632 Diversey boulevard.

His wife found him suspended by a rope, one end of which was tied around the chimney. Her screams alarmed Otto Claus, who lives in the basement. Claus cut down the body and telephoned to Dr. Johnson.

"The man must have known something of physiology," said Dr. Johnson, "for the rope around his neck was so adjusted that not a bit of air was in his lungs."

Kumpfer was a shipping clerk at Wolf's Pickle factory, 213 West Lake street. Neither the widow nor the neighbors could tell why he killed himself.

ONE WAY TO STOP INJUNCTION.

Bridge Builders Maroon Officers Serving Papers on Trestle and Complete Their Work.

Venice, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—The contractors who are building a railroad bridge over a gulch near here today outwitted officers who were sent to serve injunction papers on them, and succeeded in finishing the bridge. They allowed the officers to go out on a trestle and then cut them off from the shore, holding them prisoners until the work was completed.

MURDERED IN FEUD FIGHT

INNOCENT SPECTATOR OF RIOT IN THORNTON SHOT DEAD.

Trouble Beginning in Saloon Leads to Battle in Main Street in Which Many Members of Austrian Colony Engage—Crowd Attempts to Lynch John Stienucs After He Kills Peter Hendricks—Police Have Difficulty in Quelling the Disturbance.

A feud in the Austrian colony at Thornton, Ill., resulted yesterday in a fight which waged up and down the main street of the town for an hour and ended in the murder of one man and the injury of many others.

The Thornton police had a hard time saving the murderer from lynching. There were more prisoners in the town jail last night than there have been at any time for years.

Peter Hendricks, a laborer on the town roadway, was the innocent victim of the race war. The man who shot him gave the name of John Stienucs, a laborer in the stone quarry of the Downell Improvement company. Edward Goening, night watchman in the quarry works, was probably fatally injured.

Fight Starts in Saloon.

The fight started in the saloon of Daniel Zedarach, headquarters of the Austrians employed in the stone works. There had been strife among these men and an outbreak was expected by the town authorities.

Goening, it is said, started the immediate trouble by trying to break up a celebration which the Austrians were having in the saloon.

The men were seated in crowds around the tables, drinking and singing. The entrance of Goening was the signal for an uprising. Bottles cracked over heads and knives were drawn. The fighters surged into the back yard of the saloon and then spread into the street. Stienucs secured a revolver and led a small band of men down the main street.

Innocent Spectator Shot Dead.

Crowds of people had gathered to learn the cause of the uproar and Stienucs began shooting at them. Hendricks was in the front rank of the spectators and fell dead at the first volley.

This murder so enraged the crowd that an immediate attempt was made to lynch Stienucs. He was surrounded and beaten on the head with beer bottles. When the police rescued him he was unconscious. He and four of the rioters were locked up.

The rioting continued in scattered places for hours after the murder, and more trouble is expected. Mayor F. F. Flanagan made a speech to the people after the murderer had been locked up, urging them to go to their homes.

CAR ACCIDENTS CAUSE INJURY TO FIVE AND DELAY TRAFFIC.

South Chicago Lines Tied Up by Derailment and Broken Axle—Police Ambulance Is Called.

Two street car accidents, following closely on each other, tied up traffic on the South Chicago car lines for two hours last evening. The first, in which five persons were injured, occurred at 4 o'clock at Seventy-fifth street and Palmer avenue, and was caused by the breaking of a car axle.

The passengers were precipitated toward the front end of the car. The police ambulance was summoned and the injured cared for by Dr. J. B. Baratski, 8715 Commercial avenue. Those injured are:

Caragan, John, 8330 Bond avenue; bruised about the body.
Ebberhart, James, 233 Peoria street, Peoria, Ill.; arm wrenched.
Meirod, Thomas, 9220 Cottage Grove avenue; hand cut.
Nims, Mrs. E. L., Wicker Park; internal injuries; taken to 7514 Loulia avenue.
Richards, Albert, 249 Larrabee street; bruised.

The other accident happened a few minutes after the wrecking crew had cleared the track. A car at Seventy-ninth street and Railroad avenue jumped the track.

ASSESSORS FIND WEALTH GROWING

Cash Valuation of Cook County Realty Is $54,157,800 More than Last Year.

ALL BOOKS ARE FINISHED.

Board of Review Will Hold Its First Meeting of the Year on July 9.

COOK COUNTY REAL ESTATE.

	Full valuation.
Board of assessors, 1906	$1,658,554,180
Board of review, 1905	1,558,396,680
Board of assessors, 1905	1,609,713,925
Gain over 1905 review figures	54,157,880
Gain over 1905 assessors' figures	42,840,545

"All done now. We won't need you any more until next year," said Chief Clerk E. L. Haynes of the board of assessors to the last of 100 clerks, who at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon completed the totals of West Chicago real estate and their annual task at the same time.

The full cash valuation for the west town is $372,533,230. This is a gain of $13,414,065 over the board of review valuations for last year and an increase of $12,170,330 over the figures submitted by the board of assessors for a year ago.

The total valuation of real estate in the county, as returned by the board of assessors, is $1,652,554,480. This is $54,157,880 more than the final figures by the board of review for 1905, and a gain over the assessors' figures of a year ago of $42,840,545.

The total valuation of personal property in the county is $500,808,565 as returned by the board of assessors.

Quick Work Done by Clerks.

With the completion of the last of the fifty-eight books of the west town, Clerk Haynes and his assistants ended a long and arduous task that began March 28, when the "field men," supplied with their schedules, began to look for property owners. During the clerical work, which began as soon as the schedules started to come in, Mr. Haynes had an average of 100 men employed practically day and night, working each evening until 11 o'clock and on Sundays. The clerks completed their labors two weeks earlier than they did last year, but it took considerable activity.

Great Increase of Buildings.

Lake View and West Chicago show the largest percentage of increase, due to building enterprises. In Lake View the building of a great many apartment houses, especially in the localities to be reached by the extension of the Northwestern Elevated railroad, has caused a considerable increase in the realty valuations. In Jefferson, also, there has been a notable building boom in residence property. In the west town the building enterprises have been more of a business nature. The valuation of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. new building alone was placed at $3,812,176.

For the rest of the year the assessor's office will be a comparatively lonesome place. W. H. Weber, secretary of the board, and Chief Clerk Haynes will start this week on railroad warrants, which will be returned to the board of review, and on corporation schedules, which will be returned to the state auditor.

The board of review will hold its first meeting July 9, and the most important matter that it will take up at its first session will be the complaint by Eugene Prussing that the estate of Marshall Field owes a large amount of back taxes.

Injured by Soda Tank Blast.

E. Sanovsky, aged 43, proprietor of an ice cream parlor at 16 O'Brien street, was severely injured yesterday by the explosion of an overcharged sodawater tank. Fragments of the tank pierced his abdomen, inflicting injuries which may be fatal.

Clothes Shop
Sells Ready-to-Wear Clothes Better Than Tailors Make.

Price itself, in clothes, means nothing. It is what you get for the price which is important.

Before we opened this clothes shop we recognized among a certain class of young fellows and business men, a steady demand for ready-to-wear clothes better than could be produced by the best merchant tailor. The fact that we sell more clothes, at prices from $20 to $50, than any ten tailors in the city, is the best evidence that we have the kind of clothes that young fellows and business men want.

MUST GET MONEY TO SHUT SALOONS

Sunday Closing League Unable to Prosecute Campaign for "Dry" Sabbath.

BLAMES CITY OFFICIALS.

Mayor Dunne and Others Held Responsible for Failure to Provide Evidence.

The Sunday Closing league and other civic organizations which have been fighting for the closing of the saloons of Chicago on the Sabbath may have to give up their battle, because of a lack of funds necessary to secure evidence upon which to base indictments.

It is estimated that $500 is needed for this purpose, but where this will come from is a question that is annoying the adherents of a "dry" Sunday. This evidence, members declare, the police refuse to furnish.

With the action of the grand jury in ignoring the management of Riverview park in the violation of the Sunday closing law and the assertions of State's Attorney Healy that he is ready to prosecute violators if the evidence is presented, it was declared yesterday that the time is now ripe for a concerted movement. If the opportunity is not taken advantage of, members of the league asserted it might be a long time before the crusade could be pushed with conditions quite favorable.

Some of the members of the league are in favor of appealing to the citizens of Chicago to aid in the securing of evidence of Sunday violation, and such a step may be taken. Practically every member blamed Mayor Dunne and other city officials for failure to cooperate in the movement.

Lack Money to Make Fight.

The league practically is penniless. More than $1,000 was expended by the body in taking the Sunday closing question before the Illinois Supreme court some months ago, and when that court decided that it was not within its jurisdiction to decide the question a body blow was dealt to the organization and to its financial backers.

At least $500 would be needed to collect the evidence against saloons, and the members of the organization say they do not expect to get the money from previous supporters in the face of the last failure to secure action of the right sort.

After telling of the failure of the league to get a favorable hearing before the Supreme court when it was sought to mandamus the mayor, the Rev. W. A. Bartlett, president of the league, placed the entire responsibility for Sunday saloons upon Mayor Dunne and the city officials.

"It ought to put us all to shame that there should be necessity for reform organizations," he said. "Every one of them is a reflection on the city government. We are paying taxes and should have officials who should be guardians of the city. These officials, like the mayor and chief of police, sit back in their chairs and watch a few citizens struggle for better conditions, while they have all of the facilities to enforce the law.

Blames Mayor and Chief of Police.

"One reason why we have been held in check is that it is hard to get convictions in liquor cases where it is known that the mayor and chief of police are not in sympathy with such efforts. It is like trying to run a cable car when the rope has parted by asking the passengers to get out and push. You cannot do much in the enforcement of the law when you have to work against the officials, the politicians, and the indifference of citizens."

A meeting of the committee on finances of the league is to be held today. It is understood that a last effort will be made to secure funds for a Sunday closing crusade.

State's Attorney Healy during the day reiterated his pledge to prosecute Sunday closing violators. He was not disposed, however, to amplify his statement much.

Dr. Bryan Is Hopeful.

The Rev. W. S. P. Bryan, pastor of the Church of the Covenant and president of the North Side Law and Order league, expressed great personal interest in the developments in the state's attorney's attitude and said he believed that the law and order forces would seize the opportunity presented.

"While the closing of saloons on Sunday is not one of the specific features of the program of the North Side Law and Order league," he said, "it is by no means foreign to the league's work and might eventually be taken up. It has not been taken up as yet, however."

The Chicago Law and Order league will meet tomorrow to consider the legal opinion furnished by Church, McMurdy & Sherman, criticising the constitutionality of the present bar permit ordinance.

Object to Police at Dances.

Objection has been registered to the feature of the new bar permit ordinance which provides one policeman with each permit. Some of the clubs which desire permits think there is no need of the presence of the police at their social functions. One of the first to avail itself of a bar permit was the Norwegian Bjorgvin club, which owns its own clubhouse at 876 North Artesian avenue, for the celebration of the St. Hans festival. The national fete began Saturday afternoon and was concluded last night.

"Tonight is the first time in the history of the club that a policeman ever was stationed at the door," said one of the club leaders. "The personnel of our organization is select, and not given to actions that make the presence of a policeman at all necessary."

Peace and good will characterized the late Saturday night festivals at both the Bjorgvin club and that given by the Norwegian Singing societies at the Turner hall, 586 North California avenue.

ATTACK PICNICS ON SUNDAY.

Saturday Night Dances by Catholics Also Scored in Resolutions Before Convention.

The holding of Saturday night dances and Sunday picnics by Roman Catholics was denounced in resolutions presented at the forty-fifth annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of Illinois, held in Knights of Columbia hall, 112 Monroe street, today. The resolutions were prepared by Miss Ellen O'Mara. She also recommended that the police remove the "ladies' entrance" signs over doors of saloons in Chicago and other cities.

No argument arose over a resolution urging members of the Catholic clergy to preach total abstinence from their pulpits and to practice it in their own lives, on the ground that the latter provision was a reflection on the clergy. It was finally decided to send this resolution back to the committee.

Dr. J. J. McLaughlin was the principal speaker. He urged that the marriage of drunkards be prevented by law, and also declared that if the cooking in many homes was better men would be less inclined to the use of liquor. He suggested the establishment of cooking schools to correct this evil. Patent medicines containing alcohol were also denounced.

The officers were elected as follows:

President—P. B. Flannigan.

Vice presidents—C. M. Artman, Miss Anna Lenehan, and Miss E. J. Powers.

Treasurer—John Mangan.

Recording secretary—Miss Anna Carberry.

Financial secretary—Miss T. Martell.

It also was voted to make the quarterly assessment 10 cents, to correspond with the one paid by the Knights of Father Mathew, instead of 25 cents, which was voted last year.

MIDSUMMER QUEEN

With national music, songs, and peasant dances, "midsommardagen," the national holiday of Sweden, was celebrated yesterday in Elliott's park by more than 15,000 Chicago Swedes. The ancient custom of crowning the "queen of midsummer" was carried out with all the old time ceremony instituted by the peasantry in the Swedish provinces. The celebration was given under the auspices of the Swedish National association for the benefit of its free employment bureau, and more than $5,000 was raised for that purpose.

The ceremony of raising the maypole early in the afternoon marked the beginning of the festivities. Then followed a series of peasant dances in the national costumes of Sweden.

The climax of the festivities came with the crowning of the queen of midsummer. The honor fell to Miss Lilly Hagman, 5401 Fifth avenue. The method employed in choosing her was peculiar. A jury of twelve matrons was selected and they chose twenty-four candidates for regal honors, who were told to select from among themselves the prettiest girl for queen. The balloting resulted in favor of Miss Hagman, who received twenty-three votes. The unsuccessful candidates then became the queen's maids of honor and the queen placed floral wreaths upon their heads. Then the young women placed a floral sash over the queen's shoulders and President F. A. Lindstrand of the association put the crown of flowers on her head and a kiss upon her lips.

A gold watch was presented to her and with the singing of the "Skald's Blommar" and "I Brollopsgarden," by the united singing societies, the coronation ceremony was completed. Among the queen's "maids of honor" were Miss Naomi Akeson, Miss Anna Hagman, Miss Florence Hallgren, and Miss Selma Hultgren.

George E. Q. Johnson was the principal speaker of the day. He told of the charitable activities of the organization.

PLAN WAR ON SOCIALISM.

MRS. AVERY AND DAVID GOLDSTEIN JOIN TO FIGHT EVIL.

Former Leader in Movement and the Head of Cigarmakers' Union Will Organize League of Labor Bodies to Oppose the Dangerous Agitation—Will Have Headquarters in Chicago and Other Cities—Woman Tells Perils of Present System.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Steps will be taken this week by Mrs. Martha Moore Avery of Boston, once a prominent woman socialist, and David Goldstein, a well-known member of the Cigarmakers' International union, to organize an industrial league for the purpose of fighting the socialist movement among trades unions and promoting the trades union movement.

Headquarters will be established for the league in New York, Boston, Chicago, and other cities and an active anti-socialistic campaign will be started in a week or two.

Both Mrs. Avery and Goldstein have been socialists many years and Mrs. Avery has been well known as a speaker at labor meetings all over the country. They say they have found that back of the socialistic theories there is a principle which will not only undermine society but will destroy the home and all modern ideas and ethics. Mrs.

Unions Opposed to Socialism.

Mrs. Avery has communicated with a number of labor men in this city and found that the average trades unionist does not want to be thought a socialist. For a number of years she has been an untiring advocate of socialistic propaganda, she says, but lately she has become convinced of its fallacies. Goldstein, who is well educated, says the great body of trades unions, as a whole, is opposed to socialists, but that the latter have never ceased trying by fair means and otherwise to get control of the unions.

Mrs. Avery said that in a week or so the machinery would be in motion to spread the anti-socialist movement. She thinks socialism is a greater danger than anarchy, as its movements are insidious and, while the ultimate aim is the wrecking of the present social system, the socialists do not talk of open violence as anarchists do. They sought at first, she said, to create a spirit of discontent and hatred against capital and then spread the propaganda by depicting the misery of the poor and holding up the fact that while one man had hundreds of millions of dollars another man had nothing.

Outline of New Propaganda.

The new propaganda, Mrs. Avery says, has been outlined with a view to fight socialism and to preserve and foster the trades unions, as well with due regard for the civic duties of the workingmen, and contains among others the following principles:

To defend the principle of individual responsibility, which alone safeguards the integrity of citizenship against the denial of free will, which lies as the basic doctrine of socialism.

To defend the rights of private property and capital as against the socialistic demand that all industrial, commercial, and financial capital be owned and operated by all of the people collectively.

To advance the interests of those trades unions which work upon the principle that the interest of capital and labor may best be promoted by trade agreements, against the socialist demand for the abolition of the wage system.

5 HURT BY LAUNCH BLAST.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION ENDS PLEASURE TRIP ON LAKE.

Jack Wilson, Engineer of the Craft, Severely Burned, Is Thrown Into Water by Impact—Rescued by Policeman, Murphy, Who Plunged After Him—Three Firemen Among Victims, All Being Injured by Oil—Chief Buckley Extinguishes Flames.

A pleasure trip aboard a gasoline launch, the Primrose, was followed by explosions last night at 9:30 o'clock which resulted in injuries to five men, three of whom were firemen called to extinguish the flames. The launch belongs to Walter Emerson, 257 West Harrison street, and was badly damaged by fire.

The party had just landed at the foot of Wyandotte street, Illinois Central railroad pier No. 3, when the first explosion occurred, injuring the engineer, Jack Wilson. The second explosion occurred after the flames had been extinguished, while three firemen and Battalion Chief Buckley of engine house No. 32, Washington street and Michigan avenue, were examining the boat with matches to estimate the damage. They were taken to Emergency hospital.

The Injured.

BUCKLEY, E. J., chief of First battalion, stationed at engine house No. 32; burned about face and hands.

DILLON, JOHN, fireman; bruised and burned.

GRADY, O. G., fireman; suffered burns on face.

ROBKE, GEORGE, 20, sailor; severely burned about face, eyes, and hands.

Engineer Burned by Oil.

The cause of the first explosion is unexplainable. Wilson was leaning over the engine, tampering with the "sparker," so that he suffered from the full effect of the flames. Oil was thrown over his clothing, which caught fire. The flames were not extinguished until he was severely burned. Emerson and a party of three escaped the explosion, having left the boat just in time.

Firemen under Chief Buckley arrived quickly and put out the fire. When the second explosion occurred Wilson and the three firemen were in the launch. The impact threw Wilson overboard, and he probably would have drowned had it not been for Policeman John J. Murphy, who was attracted by the noise of the explosion.

Policeman Rescues Drowning Man.

Murphy sprang into the water and rescued Wilson with considerable difficulty. Upon recovering consciousness, Wilson became delirious and it was with some trouble that he was removed to the hospital.

Wilson was the most seriously injured of the five men and may lose the sight of one of his eyes. He lives in a houseboat at the pier No. 3. The pier caught fire from the launch and the houseboat was destroyed.

The firemen, after their injuries had been attended to, were able to return to the fire station.

Firemen Warned by Chief.

Chief Buckley cautioned the men against using matches aboard the launch, but Wilson thought all the gasoline had been consumed by the first explosion. Wilson insisted on seeing how badly the craft had been damaged before he would consent to go to the hospital, so the matches were lighted, igniting the fumes that escaped from a reserve can of gasoline which the first fire had failed to affect.

Washington, D. C.	2
Red Bank, N. J.	6

Red Wing, Minn., June 24.—Grace and Edith Nettum, sisters, aged 14 and 12 years, respectively, were drowned in the Mississippi river here today. They were riding in a launch when an alcohol lamp exploded and they fell overboard.

Canoe Upsets at Newport, Vt.

Newport, Vt., June 24.—Four persons were drowned in Lake Memphramagog late today by the overturnings of a canoe. The victims were: Fred S. Paquin, his wife and sister, and George Daily.

Government Employe Drowns.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Edward R. Saalbach and his wife were drowned in the Potomac river this afternoon. Their boat upset. Saalbach was a clerk in the war department. He was appointed from California.

Crews of Two Schooners Lost.

Red Bank, N. J., June 24.—One of the boats overturned and sunk in Raritan bay yesterday afternoon was the two masted schooner Emma Hendrix. It was caught off Port Monmouth and upset. Capt. Morris Brown and his son William, 12 years of age, were drowned, as was Champion Scott of Far Haven, who was Capt. Brown's helper. Another schooner was the Buena Vista, Capt. Theodore Wilson of this place, who, with his helper, was drowned.

ATTORNEY DIES SUDDENLY; CAUSE UNKNOWN TO DOCTOR.

W. R. Smith, Lawyer and Manufacturer, Is Seized with Paroxysm and Expires Shortly After Summoning Physician.

William R. Smith, lawyer and manufacturer, died suddenly at his apartments in the E. E. L. Woodward residence, 1917 Diversey boulevard, early yesterday morning. A postmortem examination will be held this morning by Dr. Ethan Gray. Dr. Gray said the symptoms indicated acute peritonitis, but the sudden fatality is unexplainable.

Mr. Smith was in his usual health Saturday and went to a theater in the evening. About 1 o'clock in the morning he complained of suffering and called for a physician. Mr. Smith died within an hour after the first paroxysm.

He was born in Clare, Ia., fifty-one years ago and came to Chicago twenty years ago. For several years he was associated with William H. and James H. Moore, who were then practicing attorneys, at 76 Monroe street. Becoming interested in manufacturing enterprises five years ago, he gave up the practice of law and organized the Knickerbocker Case company, of which he was president. He also was president of the Union Shirtwaist company and secretary of the West Chicago Building and Loan association. He was a director of the Illinois Industrial School for Girls at Evanston and was one of the prime movers in the recent investigation of that institution.

Mr. Smith was a thirty-second degree mason. He left no relatives with the exception of a cousin, whose whereabouts is unknown. It is thought much of his estate will be found to have been left to charity.

At the residence last night it was stated that there was not the slightest evidence that Mr. Smith committed suicide or that death was due to poison. He had a similar attack several months ago.

The funeral will be held at the residence Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock under the auspices of masonic bodies. The body will be cremated at Graceland.

BEGIN FREE ICE DELIVERY TODAY

"Tribune's" Charity Work Will Start in Congested Districts This Morning.

LARGER FUND IS NEEDED.

Thousands to Be Reached the Present Year Where Hundreds Were Served Last.

With the resumption today of the distribution of ice among the worthy poor of the congested districts, THE TRIBUNE'S two "summer charities" will begin a season of greatly increased usefulness in relieving suffering among the destitute and the stricken.

A week ago the doors of THE TRIBUNE'S summer hospital, at West Chicago, were thrown open to the sick and convalescent poor, with greatly enlarged facilities for extending its benefits to the worthy.

Today THE TRIBUNE will resume the distribution of free ice on a far larger scale than has been attempted heretofore. With the two philanthropies working together—the one taking up the work of helping the unfortunate and ill where the other leaves off—the number of beneficiaries are expected this summer to double the records of other years.

Hospital on a Larger Scale.

The hospital is being conducted on a much more extensive plan than last year as a result of the discovery that it filled in a gap in the charitable work being carried on by the various institutions of Chicago. The distribution of ice has been so systematized this year that thousands of the worthy poor will be reached where hundreds were reached in the past.

The enlarged capacity of the hospital and the increased facilities for the distribution of ice make necessary a proportionate increase in the funds for the carrying on of the splendid work of saving the lives of the babies and relieving the suffering of the ill. Again THE TRIBUNE calls upon all its friends and the friends of the worthy poor—the generous givers to charity—to contribute to THE TRIBUNE Hospital and ice fund in order that nothing may be left undone in the work of increasing the measure of their good.

Bicknell Praises "Tribune's" Work.

Of the work done by the Tribune summer hospital last year, Supt. E. P. Bicknell of the bureau of charities in a recent number of Cooperation, the organ of organized charity in Chicago, wrote:

"THE TRIBUNE placed no restrictions upon the management in the matter of expenditure. Whatever money could do in providing skillful care, proper food, cheerful and sanitary accommodations, and suitable amusements was done. The general opinion of physicians, settlement, and charity workers, and all who gave particular attention to the work of THE TRIBUNE hospital, is that the institution filled a great need in the field of summer charity; that it duplicated no other work but brought help to a class of the most needy and helpless poor, which had not been effectively reached by any of the charities already in existence."

With the certainty that it is carrying on a worthy work—a work that has been indorsed by the thinking charity and settlement workers of the city—THE TRIBUNE has no hesitancy in calling upon the friends of the poor to contribute to the support of the two summer charities. Contributions may be mailed to THE TRIBUNE office. Checks should be made payable to F. H. Rawson, treasurer of the fund. All contributions will be acknowledged promptly.

Where Ice Tickets May Be Obtained.

Ice fund tickets may be obtained today and every day during the summer at the following distributing stations:

Gad's Hill Settlement, 867 West Twenty-second street.
Hull house, 335 South Halsted street.
Elm Street Settlement, 80 Elm street.

The tickets for ice will be given free to the destitute and will be sold at the cost price of the ice—1 cent for every ten pounds—to those who are able to pay, it being a principle adhered to by all reputable philanthropic organizations to do nothing to encourage pauperization.

THE TRIBUNE ice fund tickets are of two kinds—the "green" and the "pink." The former consists of eight detachable coupons, each calling for ten pounds of ice. This ticket is sold for 8 cents. The other consists of eight coupons each, calling for twenty pounds of ice. This pink ticket is sold for 16 cents. To the destitute the tickets are given free.

TURN OUT CAR LIGHTS AND TERRORIZE A PICNIC TRAIN.

Young Men Attempt to Rob Passengers Returning from Outing Held at Santa Fe Park.

A crowded picnic train homeward bound from Santa Fé park over the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railroad was terrorized by a gang of ten young men who last night attempted to rob the passengers.

The trouble broke out as the train was passing Forty-ninth street and Kedzie avenue, when, apparently at a preconcerted signal, all the lights in the two rear coaches were extinguished. Under cover of the darkness and confusion the men made a rough and tumble dash through the cars, snatching purses, lockets, and other trinkets.

At the door of the second coach they were stopped by Patrolman Andrew Smith of the stockyards station, who arrested Thomas Walsh, Thirty-fifth and Halsted streets.

Lillian Callahan, 3519 Honore street, reported the loss of a gold watch and chain.

B. L. Hoffman was held up and robbed of $10 by two young men in his saloon, 62 North Ada street last night.

The grocery of David Korshouk, 151 North Western avenue, was entered and $50 taken about an hour later, supposedly by the same two men.

Man Drops Dead in the Street.

While walking with his wife and her sister last evening, Isaac Bloom, 55 years old, 791 Washburn avenue, was taken suddenly ill and fell to the sidewalk at South Park avenue and Thirty-third street. He was carried into the office of Dr. Charles Montezums, 3131 South Park avenue. An examination showed he had died of heart disease.

step into THE HUB any time and examine the lines of men's and women's oxfords and high shoes at... $2.50 and $3

New customers who never bought shoes here before have repeatedly expressed their surprise that such qualities can be sold at such very low prices. We answer by saying that "a house with such a tremendous output and such a powerful buying capacity can do almost anything it wishes." The profit on a pair is not large, but the volume makes up for that. These are the best shoes in the world at $2.50 and $3, and we shall be more than pleased to have you compare them with other shoes offered in this city at the same price.

Other fine lines at $3.50, $5, $6.

POLICY HOLDERS WAR FOR MILLIONS

Struggle for Control of New York and Mutual Life Companies Is On.

BIG MEN OF NATION JOIN.

Cardinal Gibbons Lends Name to Effort to Overthrow Wall Street Domination.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—"For the first time in their lives the policy holders of the New York Life and of the Mutual Life Insurance companies will be able to cast votes which have not been chloroformed in advance. The Wall street financiers must look now to the ballot box for a continuance of their control and manipulation of nearly $900,000,000 of insurance assets."

This is the brief statement made by the officers of the international policy holders' committee today, when they gave out for publication the names of the men who have consented to serve on the committee.

Battle Over Millions.

From now until December next one of the most extraordinary campaigns in the history of the country will be waged between the 1,100,000 policy holders of the Mutual and New York Life Insurance companies on the one side and the strongest possible group of Wall street interests on the other.

For several weeks both sides have been preparing for the campaign. The stake is of monumental importance, as it involves control of both the Mutual and New York Life companies, whose combined assets amount to the colossal sum of $900,000,000.

Wall street interests have always been in complete control of the vast savings of the 1,100,000 policy holders and have used them with a free hand in their speculative ventures, and they do not propose to surrender their grip on such a stupendous money making power without making a fight of the first magnitude.

Policy Holders Organized.

The policy holders of the two companies in the United States, Canada, and the principal European countries have been quietly organized during the last six weeks by representatives of the international policy holders' committee under the direction of its counsel, Samuel Untermyer.

As a result of this organization it is expected that a majority of the policy holders of each company will vote at the annual election on Dec. 16 to turn out the J. P. Morgan management, which now controls the New York Life, and the Standard Oil management, which is in control of the Mutual Life.

In many respects the committee is the most remarkable body of its kind ever formed, the greatest possible care having been exercised to select only those men in whom the public has supreme confidence. Men with Wall street connections or under the domination of the Morgan of Standard Oil interests were carefully avoided.

Cardinal Gibbons Joins Fight.

One of the most notable members of the committee is Cardinal Gibbons, primate of the Roman Catholic church in America. The fact that Cardinal Gibbons joined the committee is regarded in itself as the strongest possible evidence of the importance he attaches to the matter at issue, the safety of the savings of the 1,100,000 policy holders.

In joining the committee Cardinal Gibbons wrote:

"I accept the invitation with a deep sense of the grave responsibility which the office entails."

An equally notable member is the Rev. Dr. Russell H. Conwell, who is probably the leading Baptist clergyman of the United States. He is the founder of the Baptist Temple and Temple college of Philadelphia.

Each Policy Holder Votes.

The recently enacted New York laws fix definitely the conditions governing the elections of directors in the above companies. Each policy holder will have one vote, regardless of the amount of his policy or the number of policies held by him. The voting will be by ballot directly by mail. All proxies given before Oct. 18 are void, but no proxy is necessary. The polls open Oct. 18 and will remain open sixty days. Ballots will be mailed to each policy holder and may be marked and returned by mail.

Under the new laws the present insurance managements will nominate their candidates for directors on July 18. It is generally understood in insurance circles that theirs will be a "stand pat" policy; that the same men or their doubles will be renominated. The policy holders have until Sept. 18 to name their tickets.

Personnel of the Committee.

The personnel of the policy holders' committee is as follows:

Gov. N. B. Broward of Florida.
Gov. N. C. Blanchard of Louisiana.
Dr. Russell H. Conwell of the Baptist church.
President E. E. Clark of Order of Railway Conductors of Iowa.
Cardinal Gibbons of the Roman Catholic church.
Judge George Gray of Delaware.
Gov. J. Frank Hanly of Indiana.
John C. Heuphill of South Carolina.
Harlow N. Higinbotham of Illinois.
Gov. J. A. Johnson of Minnesota.
E. A. Lash, K. C. of Canada.
Nicholas Longworth of Ohio.
Frederick B. Neideringhaus of Missouri.
Samuel Newhouse of Utah.
Fremont Older of California.
Richard Olney of Massachusetts.
Gov. S. W. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania.
Judge Alton B. Parker of New York.
Gov. Henry Roberts of Connecticut.
Col. A. M. Shook of Tennessee.
Charles Emory Smith of Pennsylvania.
Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy of New York.
Thomas B. Wanamaker of Pennsylvania.
Herr Henrich Wiegand of Germany, nominated by German committee and representative of English and French committees whose representatives are in course of selection and will be announced later.

Old Managements Will Fight.

A meeting of the committee has been called to be held in the city of New York on July 10, at which time the committee will perfect its organization and begin active work for the forthcoming elections for directors of both companies.

Samuel Untermyer, the general counsel for the committee, made this announcement today:

"The old managements are exhausting every effort to intrench themselves in office. They are relying upon thee vast agency organizations of these two companies to use their agents to perpetuate the existing régimes, and policy holders are cautioned against permitting the agency force of the companies to be used in canvassing for votes for the present discredited management. The agents are in the policy holders' pay, and should not be working against their interest."

Lurline First in Transpacific Yacht Contest by Many Hours.

HONOLULU, June 24.—Lurline became winner of the transpacific yacht race at 11:30 this morning, when the time allowance expired. At 4:06 o'clock neither La Paloma nor Anemone had been sighted.

Okee Wins Cup Race.

Block Island, R. I., June 24.—The yacht Okee, owned by J. A. and J. F. Mahlstedt, won the New York Athletic club's third ocean race from Whortleberry Island for a cup offered by K. Mason Raborg. The Okee's elapsed time was 21:21:00; corrected time, 17:54:37.

Grand Opera Star Secretly Married.

OLIVE FREMSTAD AS "BRUNNHILDE IN "DIE WALKURE"

Olive Fremstad of the Metropolitan opera company was, it has just been learned, married on April 15 last at Salt Lake, Utah, to Edson Webster Sutphen, a West Pointer, now an automobile importer in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Sutphen were with the opera company in San Francisco the morning of the earthquake, April 18, and escaped to the ferry in an automobile.

RUSS TERRORISTS ACTIVE.

BAND ON MURDER RAMPAGE NEAR WARSAW.

Crew of Auxiliary Cruiser Rebels and Takes Vessel Back to Odessa by Force — Powerful Centrist Party Adds Voice to Chorus Demanding Resignation of Ministry — Former Minister Declares Present Situation Is Full of Peril.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 24.—Continued reports of turbulence and terrorist activity in the interior, coupled with a fresh naval mutiny on a vessel in the Black sea fleet, comprised the bulk of the day's political news here.

A report from Moscow late tonight says the sound of heavy firing is heard in the direction of the Khodinka, where an enormous massmeeting of soldiers was held. It is believed artillery was used to disperse the meeting.

The most serious evidence of terrorist activity was furnished by Wola, a suburb of Warsaw, where a band of revolutionaries killed two policemen and wounded another policeman and a gendarme who were sitting drinking in a restaurant. An hour later the same band shot and killed a police sergeant.

In Piotrkow, Russian Poland, two police officers and a policeman were shot dead in the streets.

The latest naval mutiny occurred while the volunteer fleet cruiser Nishni Novgorod was carrying a corps of artillerists from Odessa to Sevastopol. The crew rebelled when the vessel was midway between the two cities and brought the ship back to Odessa.

Powerful Party Deserts Ministry.

The conservative centrist party in the council of the empire, organized recently for the purpose of attempting to supplant the Goremykin ministry by a cabinet chosen from the octoberist, the democratic reform, and the constitutional democratic parties, have joined in the chorus demanding the resignation of the cabinet.

There are indications that Premier Goremykin is wearying of his position, but the retirement of the cabinet is apparently not a matter of the immediate future, and reports published abroad that the ministers all wish to resign, but that the emperor cannot decide to accept their resignations, are untrue.

Government Blamed by Minister.

An unnamed member of the Russian cabinet is quoted as declaring that it was the government's indecision and inaction in the autumn of 1904, when it would have been easy to win over the loyal zemstvo party, that sowed the seeds of the present trouble. The delay consequent on this inaction, he says, led to the formation of an alliance of the reform party and a group of terrorists and anarchists—a fatal step which he is convinced "will strike the Russian emancipation movement barren for many long years to come and be fraught with unending calamities to the nation."

CHICAGO GREETING PLEASES HAAKON.

King and Queen and Entire Court Welcome Local Norwegians.

DR. DAAE FIRST SPEAKER.

His Majesty Shakes Each Visitor by the Hand; Leads Cheers of School Children.

TRONDHJEM, Norway, June 24.—King Haakon and Queen Maud received the Norwegian-American delegations at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon. The entire court was present. The visitors from the United States spent twenty-five minutes with the king and queen.

Dr. Daae of Chicago first read an address congratulating King Haakon on his ascension to the throne and expressing assurances of the affection of Norwegians in America for Norway. He then handed the king the address engrossed on parchment.

King Haakon thanked the delegation, saying he was fully aware of the value to Norway of the moral support of Norwegians in America and that it helped him when entering upon the duties of his office to know that he had their friendship and moral support. He also expressed his gratification for the kindly sentiment of Americans.

Geniuses Send Portfolio.

F. G. Gade, Norway's vice consul at Chicago, then presented King Haakon with a portfolio, saying that this greeting also was from America and particularly from Norwegian musicians, artists, and poets there. He told the king that the portfolio contained a poem written by the Rev. Mr. Bothne, set to music by Alfred Paulson, which was sung at a demonstration last night. Consul Gade then presented Odin Renning of Milwaukee, composer of the coronation hymn, which also was embodied in the portfolio.

In replying to Consul Gade, the king expressed his warmest thanks for the portfolio and charged him to deliver a message of thanks to all who assisted in preparing or contributing to it. The king and queen then shook hands with the entire party and thanked the members for making the long journey from the United States to assist in the coronation.

King Leads Children's Cheers.

Thousands of school children paraded before the palace at noon today and were reviewed by King Haakon, Queen Maud, and Crown Prince Olaf. King Haakon, in addressing the children, expressed the appreciation of himself, his wife, and his son, and commended the crown prince to them. He trusted that he and the people always would enjoy mutual confidence and work together in the future for the good of Norway. He led the children in cheering for Norway and asked them to sing the national anthem, which he also led.

Admiral Bayle and the French embassy to the coronation gave a reception this afternoon on board the cruiser Aube. All the embassies, the members of the cabinet, officers of the international fleet, and many persons of prominence were present. Premier Michelsen proposed a toast to France, which was drunk enthusiastically. Admiral Bayle thanked the premier on behalf of the French people.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bryan left Trondhjem today for North Cape.

ITALY'S RULERS NEAR DEATH.

Police Frustrate Plan to Throw Bombs at Train in Which They Are Traveling.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE AND THE BUENOS AYRES PRENSA.]

ROME, June 24.—The police tonight learned of another attempt to assassinate the king and queen during their trip from Rome to Ancona. The police of the village of Castel Ferretto, near Falconara, on the Adriatic sea, searched the house of Aurelio Landi, an anarchist, and in a hole in the floor found three loaded bombs. Landi's home adjoined the railroad over which the king and queen passed this morning. Landi and two friends who, it is believed were to have thrown the bombs, and seven other confederates have been arrested.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY TINKHAM SHACKFORD died yesterday at her home in Winnetka, aged 79 years. She and her husband moved in 1853 to Chicago from Maine and took up their residence on the north side, where they lived until after the great fire. Youth of America Will Break All Records in Fireworks This Year.

DASH DOWN A MOUNTAIN.

Trolley Car Runs Away on First Trip to Test Emergency Brakes.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, June 24.

Over $12,000,000 Will Be Spent in Fireworks.

According to the bulletins put out by the men who know what young America is going to do, the coming fourth of July will be the greatest yet in the line of fireworks. A man who keeps tab on the fireworks business figured out, after the fourth was over last year, that over $12,000,000 had been used up in fireworks in the United States, which this will be greatly exceeded this year. He also stated that New York City alone will spend several millions on firecrackers, revolver ammunition, roman candles, skyrockets, bombs, pinwheels, punk, etc.

The police of the various precincts know many new inventions in the line of noisemaking paper bombs have been tried by many boys already. For some weeks the police have been trying, with indifferent success, to remind the youngsters that the day to set off fireworks is fourth of July, not early in June. Although many of the offending boys have been taken as far as the rollroom of the stations, the austere expression of the policemen who arrested them faded there and they were allowed to go.

Daylight fireworks is to be the thing this year—things that may be seen although the sun stands high. This preeminently is the land of the Japs. They make balloons, odd flags, flowers, and such like creations which may be seen against either a cloudy or a light blue sky. In the balloon line some novelties will be seen in the shape of camels, elephants, tigers, and other beasts.

Brooklyn yields the greatest crop of fireworks each year. There is a monster fireworks factory there which covers forty acres of ground. For many weeks 500 men have been busy making the crackers and bombs which the boys and girls will watch go up in fire and smoke. Chemists and mechanics of the highest skill are needed for the work, which is fraught with many dangers.

Trolley Car Runs Away Down Mountain.

On the first trip up the Orange mountain this morning as a test, a trolley car on the Orange Mountain road got out of control and ran away down the mountain side. The man was almost instantly killed, another probably fatally injured, and eleven others hurt. The line had just been built, and the cars were received only this morning.

The road runs directly up Orange mountain for a distance of one mile in an absolutely straight line. Members of the construction gang got aboard the car, which was to be sent up as a test, and a few passengers who happened to be standing at the foot of the mountain were invited in for the first trip. As the car went up the mountain it stopped at intervals and tested the emergency brake was applied. The purpose of this brake was not to stop the car when it was in motion but to hold it after it had been stopped by the ordinary brakes.

The brake consists of a tongue which reaches the rails under the front wheels, serving the double purpose of blocking the wheels and applying friction directly to the surface of the rails. It worked right until the car reached a deep cut at the summit of the mountain, where the grade is steepest. Here the car started back, slowly at first. Then the emergency brake gripped the track and slipped off.

The car gained a frightful speed, and those on board began to jump for their lives. Patrick Burns, a laborer, fell on his face and plowed across the roadway, his head striking the old trolley road and crushing his skull. He died in a few minutes. Quayle, the motorman, jumped and escaped, badly injured. Nine others jumped and escaped. Edward L. Peterson stayed on the platform holding fast to the rail as the car dashed down the tracks with freightful speed.

At the foot of the hill another car was standing and the runaway crashed into it, lifting it ten feet in the air and tossing it into a lot adjoining, where it traveled fifty feet a complete wreck. The runaway car finally stopped in a condition fit only for the scrap heap. Peterson lost two teeth but otherwise was unhurt.

Diamond Thieves Dig Through Wall and Floor.

The jewelry store of N. S. Brann was broken into two weeks ago and diamonds worth $10,000 are missing. Acting under instructions from the police, Brann kept the news quiet for two weeks. So far the police have failed to find the thieves and this morning the matter apparently was as far from solution as on the night of the burglary.

The thieves entered the store by digging a hole two feet in diameter through the brick wall which separates the cellar from the adjoining building. A hole eighteen inches in diameter was made through the floor and the thieves were able to reach the window where the diamonds were kept. Mr. Brann thought that, because he had a private watchman who slept in the store, also an electric burglar alarm, it was safe to leave the jewels in the window.

The only opening in the rear is protected with steel cross bars set in the masonry work, while the doors and ceilings are lined with electric wires which connect with burglar alarms.

Police Capture Many Reckless Autoists.

Police Commissioner Bingham's big red automobile and Deputy Commissioner Waldo's machine were out yesterday chasing automobilists, more than a score of reckless chauffeurs being arrested. All of the police wore goggles and the most approved speeding rigs, and the inspector took along as a further deception his 8 year old son. The boy had the time of his life. The results were so satisfactory that next Sunday it is said more automobiles will be out.

The liveliest incident was when the Bingham automobile started after a flying car in which were Otto Resspicker, William Fallon, and two women. This automobile was timed at fifty miles an hour. When the speedmaniac machine drew up alongside Fallon, who was driving, tried to upset the official car.

Two New Ocean Liners to Start in July.

The Hamburg-American line intends starting in July a service between Libau and Dover and New York in competition with the Russian line of vessels of the volunteer fleet, which will inaugurate its service with the sailing from Libau on Aug. 8 of the steamer Smolensk. Russia is trying to control the emigration traffic, and if the volunteer fleet line is a success this traffic no longer will go to the same extent by way of Hamburg and Bremen.

Fall Seriously Injures Chicago Woman.

Arthur Cook, 4 years old, of Cincinnati and Mrs. Effie Ferguson, 638 Ninety-third street, Chicago, were swinging last night in a hammock on the roof of 638 Eighth avenue, where they were visiting relatives, when a chimney, to which the hammock was attached collapsed. The Cook boy was killed and Mrs. Ferguson sustained possibly fatal injuries. She was taken to a hospital.

tions, naturally will be large, but this is a large country.

"In connection with the appropriations," he continued, "the country should not lose sight of the fact that the permanent appropriations reach the enormous total of $175,000,000. By permanent appropriations I mean those which have been authorized as permanent and which can be expended annually without congress having a word to say regarding them.

"The annual appropriations are the appropriations made by congress every year. For example, congress at this session appropriates for the fiscal year 1907, which begins a week from tomorrow. Now a permanent appropriation is an appropriation made by a law specifically providing that there is hereby permanently appropriated so much for a specific purpose. An example of this appropriation is contained in the meat inspection act which is now pending in congress. That act, as passed by the house, authorizes a permanent appropriation of $3,000,000 annually.

"That amount is to be expended every year in the discretion of the secretary of agriculture without any further action on the part of congress and without any control or supervision over its disbursement. The appropriation continues indefinitely and can cease only when congress passes an act for the repeal of the law.

Tawney Shows Evil of System.

"Another example is the appropriation for the collection of the customs revenue. There is a permanent specific appropriation of $5,000,000 and also a permanent indefinite appropriation of $2,000,000, the indefinite appropriation consisting of fees and fines collected by the government and authorized to be expended for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the collection of the customs revenue.

"That appropriation is expended absolutely within the discretion of the secretary of the treasury, who fixes all salaries and makes such other distributions of the money as he may consider necessary. The secretary is obliged to report to congress the number of employés and the salaries paid them, but that is as far as his responsibility goes.

"In addition to this there is more than $165,000,000 remaining for the permanent appropriation. Thus congress has increased the permanent appropriation of the militia by $1,000,000, which, added to the appropriation already authorized, makes a permanent appropriation of $2,000,000 to be paid annually without any action on the part of congress and without any supervision or control other than that of the secretary of war."

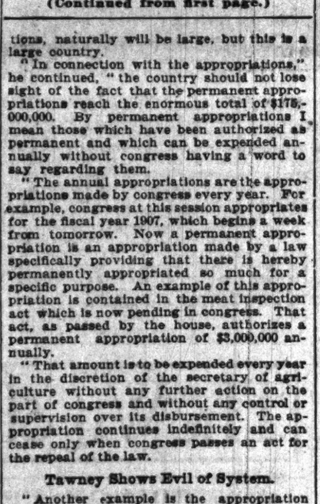

THE TRIBUNE correspondent asked Mr. Tawney if it were wise to proceed in such a way.

"It is a most vicious policy," was his answer. "For the reason that once a permanent appropriation is made, it is practically impossible to secure its repeal. The appropriations committee reported an amendment at the beginning of this congress for the repeal of that permanent appropriation law, for the collection of the customs revenue, but this was legislation, and the committee not having jurisdiction to report legislation, and some member of congress fearing we might possibly direct the secretary of the treasury to abandon a customs district in his congressional district, where the cost of collecting the customs is greater than the receipts of the office, made a point of order and it failed.

Urges Check on All Appropriations.

"I have introduced a bill for the repeal of all the permanent appropriations that, in my judgment, ought to be repealed, but have not had time this session to press it. I hope to get the matter in shape during the summer with a view to urging action at the next session."

It is apparent from studying the appropriation laws that not many years will elapse before the expenses of the country reach the billion dollar mark.

CURB ALL TRUSTS, ROOSEVELT'S VOW.

President, in Biggest Fight of Career, Determined to Weed Evil from Land.

ALLOWS NONE TO ESCAPE.

Prosecution of Every Corporation Violating Law Under Way or Planned.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt has declared that the trusts must abide by the law or go.

Not one or two trusts, but all the gigantic corporations which are violating the law will feel the sting of his attack, which will not cease until he has won the crowning victory of his administration or suffered his first defeat.

The prosecution of the Standard Oil trust is but an incident in the president's battle plan. Already plans are well under way to test the strength of half a dozen other of the most powerful corporations.

The determination of the administration to weed out the trust evil root, branch, and flower was eloquently demonstrated in the senate yesterday. The attorney general was to supply congress with a list of the trusts against which proceedings have been instituted.

List of the Suits.

This is the list with which Mr. Moody startled the senate and demonstrated the earnestness of President Roosevelt's warfare:

Criminal proceedings against the Standard Oil company.
Suit to enjoin the tobacco trust.
Suit to enjoin the elevator trust.
Suit to enjoin the drug trust.
Suit against the beef trust.
Suit to enjoin the Northwestern Fuyer trust.
Indictment of persons connected with the elevator trust.
Suits to punish railroads for rebates given to the sugar trust.
Suit against the St. Louis Terminal association of St. Louis.

Fight to Be Bitter One.

It will be the bitterest fight all round that the administration has entered. Every cog in the powerful judicial machinery will be arrayed against the trust. Against the administration will be arrayed the vast power and wealth of the trusts.

May Begin in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—It is believed here that Philadelphia is to be the scene of the first action to be brought by the government against the Pennsylvania railroad and the Standard Oil company. United States District Attorney Thompson will conduct the cases, arrangements for which will be completed this week in New York at a conference between Alexander Simpson Jr. of this city and Charles E. Hughes. The chief question under consideration is the advisability of the individual prosecutions of A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania. This was plainly inferred today by a lawyer who has been intimately associated with the interstate commerce commission hearings.

District Attorney Thompson has been advised by the attorney general to prepare for prosecutions. The Pennsylvania railroad lawyers are working night and day making plans for defense.

The charge to be made by the government will be conspiracy. Lawyers believe facts brought out in the investigation of dealings between railroads, Standard Oil, and certain favored coal companies can only be explained upon grounds of private understanding. The charge of conspiracy, if proven, carries with it punishment, imprisonment.

YELLOW JACK IN LOUISIANA.

One Case, a Cuban Sailor, Is Reported at the Mississippi River Quarantine Station.

New Orleans, La., June 24.—One case of yellow fever was reported today at the Mississippi river quarantine station, 97 miles below New Orleans. This is the first case of yellow fever reported in Louisiana this year by the state board of health. The patient is a Cuban sailor, who arrived on June 18 on the steamer Holstein from Havana.

CAUSELESS ALARM.

Whenever an employer drops a few women and puts men in their places there is a great commotion, as if something momentous had happened—as if a general attack were being made on woman labor. If a firm were to dismiss half a dozen men stenographers or typewriters and hire women nothing would be said about it. Nobody would jump at the conclusion that men were being proscribed. Manifestly many women have a feeling that the place they have won in the labor market is held by an uncertain tenure. They need have no fears on that score. The fact that an employer here and there decides that he can have his clerical work done to better advantage by a man than by a woman proves nothing and is not worth noticing. Women cannot be driven out of any of the fields of labor which have been opened to them during the last fifty years. In that time they have largely supplanted men as teachers. They have to a considerable extent driven them out of the dry goods stores. The "counter jumper" has become almost as extinct as the dodo. Of employment in new occupations, such as typewriting and shorthand, women have a full share. In the beginning of the telephone men had charge of the little switchboards, while women do the work now.

Women may draw comfort from the reflection that if they were to throw up their jobs in factories, stores, and offices it would be impossible to find men enough to fill their places. Women get various kinds of work not merely because they will accept lower wages than men but because their labor is needed to supplement that of men. Of course, the difference in wages counts for a great deal. It often turns the scale in favor of the woman. Many women who are poorly qualified are given the preference over men no more competent than themselves simply because they ask less.

Now and then an employer will get a notion that it is better not to have women around and will discharge a few. Occasionally labor organizations will resolve that women should stay home and not take work away from men. These incidents count for nothing. The number of women workers in this country will continue to increase.

A PLATFORM CONVENTION.

From the standpoint of political science there will be considerable interest in the Wisconsin democratic state convention to be held in Milwaukee in a few days. Under the terms of the law enacted by the legislature last winter it is provided that the candidates selected at the primary election shall formulate the platform upon which they are to stand. This law has not appealed to the democrats of the state, who have called a convention under the old plan for the purpose of making the platform for the party. In the nature of things the meeting will be a sort of "love feast," since no candidate will be nominated for any office. It will be interesting to note how many persons will attend under such circumstances, with no personal attachment to a given politician's cause to encourage and without any of the enthusiastic rivalry which ordinarily accompanies a state convention.

The convention in American politics probably had its origin in a desire for the meeting of leaders of party thought for mutual helpfulness and stimulus. It was the cause and not the candidate which aroused enthusiasm and led men to be willing to pay personal expenses and leave business interests in order to gain inspiration from a gathering of kindred spirits attached to a common idea. This has always been the chief advantage of the convention system rather than the mere selection of candidates. In all the discussions of primary laws and direct nomination plans many a citizen has wondered about the effect upon the convention, which, in many instances, would have little to do but ratify the popular decision already made at the primary.

Everybody recognizes, of course, that the convention has been an institution managed by party bosses, a place where the individual delegate has had comparatively little freedom because of the obligations of a moral nature imposed upon him by previous conditions in caucus or primary in which he was selected. But at the same time the mere fact of being in a large gathering of members of his own party, with the chance of meeting men from different parts of county, or congressional district, or state, has had a marked effect in keeping interest in political affairs at a high pitch. In all likelihood few persons ever attended a state convention, for example, without receiving lasting impressions affecting their political interest throughout life.

It will be a matter of political moment, therefore to be carefully considered, whether the convention can be spared from the machinery of government, and, further, whether the convention can be made large, and representative, and enthusiastic without the stimulus of rival candidacy for nomination on a ticket to be selected by it. It is true that public opinion is no longer swayed by utterances in massmeetings, because there are more effective agencies at work in society which often make the convention declaration merely the reflection of matured views already determined. It is the other phase that is to be considered—namely: the political value of assemblages of people bound by common party ties and common enthusiasm for traditions and ideals.

THE ELEVATED EXPRESS ORDINANCE.

Ald. Dunn made a decisive point against the pending Metropolitan elevated express ordinance on Thursday at the meeting of the local transportation committee. The ordinance proposes to give the company the right to carry express matter—or general merchandise—during the rest of its fifty year grant, that is, until 1942. If it passes, the other elevated companies will ask for like privileges. Ald. Dunn urged that it is impossible to foresee what the conditions of elevated railway traffic will be ten years hence, and that, therefore, no fixed grant of this sort should be made for more than five or ten years. The committee practically ignored the point, and even recommended that, when the ordinance comes up as a special order tonight, it be amended so as to extend its privileges to the Elgin and Aurora line.

Ald. Dunn's contention was sound. It should be heeded in the council. When the first steam railways of the world were built in England in the thirties they were used to an overwhelming extent for passenger as against freight traffic. Even in the early forties three-fourths of the receipts came from passenger traffic, and on some lines only a fifth or a sixth came from freight. A decade later freight receipts had increased to more than half the total. They are much more than half today. In this country a still larger proportion of steam road business consists in the carriage of freight. The express business on the elevated lines, when once inaugurated, may likewise have a wholly unexpected development. The city should not, for any considerable period of time, so tie its hands that it cannot exercise absolute control over such development.

Many persons apprehend that if the carriage of express matter is once allowed on the elevated line it will cause serious interference with the primary business for which these lines were allowed to be built—namely: the carriage of passengers. Nor is this apprehension wholly idle. Other persons insist that Chicago may not wish to have its general appearance disfigured and its pleasantness marred for forty years to come by the existence of elevated lines. They believe that some alternative and improved plan of travel will be available. They hold, therefore, that no new long time rights should be unnecessarily conceded to the elevated companies which might intrench the latter in resisting demands for improvements during the latter portion of their fifty year franchise periods. These considerations are important, and they are enforced by painful traction lessons.

To begin the express business on the elevated lines will call for almost no new investment in fixed plant. No long time grant is thus justified. Ald. Dunn's limit is ample. The companies have no right to demand more. To exceed it would be injudicious from the public standpoint. The surface traction interests—now that they are disarmed of the ninety-nine year club—are assenting to a tenure revocable at any time. If the Metropolitan company spurns the ten year express grant let it have one on a tenure revocable at will.

THE RESTAURANT ORDINANCE.

The packing houses should be in proper hygienic and sanitary condition. It would be illogical for the sanitary inspector to confine his attention to the packing houses. He should follow the products to the restaurants where so large a proportion of Chicago workers get their week day meals and see that the meats and other foodstuffs are prepared for the table in cleanly kitchens by neat handed cooks.

This will be attended to if the council shall pass an ordinance which the commissioner of health has drafted. It empowers his department to exact cleanliness in restaurants and to prevent the sale of unwholesome food in them.

No novel has been written professing to lay bare the horrifying conditions which obtain in the kitchens of Chicago restaurants. No commissioners have been sent here from Washington to investigate. No one sided reports calculated to shake public confidence and injure the great restaurant industry of Chicago have been given out. For all that customers know, these places are pinks of purity and need no inspection.

Nevertheless, the ordinance which has been mentioned is a proper one and should be passed. Doubtless there are here and there restaurants with kitchens which are in such condition that patrons would lose their appetites if they had a glimpse of what went on behind the scenes.

No impossible standards of cleanliness or sanitation should be set up at the stockyards or elsewhere, but it must be admitted that there has been too little inspection of foodstuffs and the places where they are prepared. If there had been more, the packers would have made years ago the changes they are making now, and there would have been no stockyards sensation. There are other places where a little timely inspection may head off a small scandal. The fact that the inspection of restaurants is asked for may make consumers unduly nervous. If they shall have fears nothing can dispel them so quickly as the passage of an ordinance to enforce cleanliness and prevent the sale of unwholesome food.

BUSINESS INTEREST AND REFORM.

The olden-time guild used to have strict laws regarding the output of its members. Its officers inspected every detail of work with rigid scrutiny, because defect in materials or shabby workmanship was clearly understood to mean loss of reputation and consequent loss of business. The instinct of self-preservation was all powerful, and the members recognized the importance of what the ruling officers watched with zealous care.

Several things have recently been said which recall this old-fashioned honesty because of business interest and because of the natural pride which soon grew up about a particular craft. A leading automobile manufacturer called attention to certain serious dangers connected with his industry and expressed his conviction that the manufacturers themselves were the ones most concerned in stopping evil tendencies sure in the end to bring public condemnation. A day later a convention of druggists discussed earnestly measures which should be adopted to check the sale of certain drugs which have bad effect upon their users, the interests of the drug trade and not the morals of the people being the controlling motive in such suggestions.

The brewers follow with a like proposition that they should give their influence toward the eradicating of low and vicious features connected more or less directly with their business. Given a free action, almost any business will take itself to ruin if the rights and the opinions of other people are not carefully taken into account. If the Texas Brewers' association has spent $10,000 to wipe out of existence vile saloons and low dives, and if it be true that their detectives have done more to reduce the evils of the saloon business than the police officers of the cities of the state, it is a striking illustration of the same general proposition that the business most closely identified with certain conditions is the one which has the greatest interest in keeping those conditions such as will meet popular approval and prevent the development of a spirit of hostility which may easily be increased to the point of actual prohibition.

There is a certain amount of reform which ought to be favored from a purely business point of view, and the recognition of this fact must always be of substantial value in the work of regulating things which must be kept under more or less close surveillance. The wise business man is the one who recognizes this fact and acts accordingly.

PURE FOOD.

Just what kind of a pure food bill will emerge from the conference committee is guesswork. The prospect is that the conferees will agree on something before adjournment, for there is a manifest popular demand for legislation, and when there is such a demand congress usually bows to it. So much has been said about adulterated and poisonous food that senators and representatives do not relish the thought of facing constituents who have come to believe that death or deception is lurking in every can of foodstuffs they buy.

The bill which the senate passed is better in some respects than the house measure, but there will be no general grief if the latter shall become law. The manufacturers of "straight" whisky will deplore the absence of the provision leveled at the "blended" whisky of the rectifiers which was in the senate bill. A dispute between rival whisky manufacturers excites no interest among those who do not drink, and little among those who do. The difference of opinion between the two houses shows that the rectifiers had more influence in the house than in the senate, or that senators are more anxious that the whisky they drink shall be of the best quality than representatives are.

Some of the worst amendments which were pressed in the house were defeated. The proprietary medicine men will not be allowed to put even the smallest quantity of opium into their preparations without giving notice to the purchaser. The house bill at one time provided that there should be stated on the outside of a package the quantity of the contents in terms of weight or measure. The manufacturers insisted that it was impossible to put up packages of uniform weight or measure, and the provision was stricken out. Their influence was sufficient to defeat an amendment that the quantity of contents should be stated approximately. The bill provides that if the manufacturer sets out the weight or measure on the label the contents must conform to the description. If he says a can holds a quart it must hold a quart. Therefore he will say nothing. Labels will not give the information they ought to and the customer will not know how much he is buying. The law should require the approximate quantity of contents to be stated.

A passable law will be better than no law. Its enactment will be equivalent to taking that first step, which is the most difficult. A law free from radical defects will be of such manifest value to consumers that they will insist upon legislation which shall be free from defects of any kind. They will get it ultimately, in spite of the open or secret opposition of the interests whose illicit profits will be decreased by it.

THEY are still cleaning up.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1906: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

WHILE it is the Americans who, as a general rule, rent castles and country seats from British peers of the realm, Lord Eglinton, by way of reversing this procedure, has leased a grand old castle on the coast of Donegal from its owner, who is an American. The latter is Mrs. John George Adair, daughter of Gen. Wadsworth of Genessee, N. Y., and widow first of Col. Ritchie of New York and later on of John George Adair, high sheriff of County Donegal, who, at his death, bequeathed to her, along with much other property, Glenveagh castle.

It is a grand old place of gray stone, castellated with embattled walls, and is perched on a bleak, wind swept cliff overlooking the sea on one of the most picturesque portions of the coast of Ireland. Many alterations and additions have been made from time to time, until it is now one of the most roomy and luxurious mansions of the Emerald isle, and has frequently been suggested as eminently suitable for a royal residence.

Lord Eglinton is head of the ancient and illustrious Scotch house of Seton, which figures so frequently in the pages of Scotland's history, and one of whose members, the fifth Lord Seton, played so romantic a rôle in connection with Mary queen of Scots, acting as the master of her household and rescuing her from her imprisonment at Loch Leven. It may be remembered, too, that Mary Seton was the favorite of the half a dozen Marys of ancient lineage who attended her both on the throne and in her captivity as her ladies in waiting.

One branch of the Seton family, which has been settled for near 200 years in America, figured both in the war of independence and in the civil war, while perhaps the best known of its members is Archbishop Seton, now resident in Rome, but long connected with the Roman Catholic church interests in New Jersey, and celebrated as a genealogist and as one of the most erudite and accomplished divines of the United States.

The present Lord Eglinton is the fifteenth earl of his line and is a younger son of that thirteenth earl who is famous as the organizer of the Eglinton tournament which was held at Eglinton castle seventy years ago, and in which not only the earl himself and many other peers of high degree took part, but also Prince Louis Bonaparte, who afterwards ascended the throne of France as Napoleon III. Lord Eglinton was undoubtedly the most notable figure at the tournament in grace of bearing, in strength, and in agility, and whereas the other knights, by reason of the great weight of their armor, had to be hoisted into their saddles like so many raw recruits in an army riding school, the earl vaulted on to his steed, over sixteen hands high, without touching the stirrup, and as lightly as a feather, though his armor was among the heaviest of those who took part in this historic pageant portrayed by Lord Beaconsfield and other novelists, and which had been instituted for the purpose of showing the world a living picture of old world chivalry. It is estimated that the affair cost him nearly half a million of dollars. This, together with the splendor of his establishment when viceroy of Ireland, crippled for a time the resources of his successors.

In spite of this, the present earl is extremely well off, owing to the fact that his possessions are situated in one of the richest mineral districts of the united kingdom, and there is no ground for the popular impression that he is in straitened circumstances. This impression has arisen from the fact that when his half brother and predecessor in the family honors died without male issue he not only bequeathed everything that he possibly could to his daughters and away from the title, but even left directions that all the jewels and family treasures not entailed as heirlooms should be sold by public auction for their benefit.

It is owing to this that gems which had belonged to Mary queen of Scots, including six unique black pearls, which had been presented by her to Mary Seton and had remained ever since then among the most treasured possessions of the Seton and Montgomery families, came into the market, and were purchased at auction by Lady Maple, wife of the retail furniture-on-the-installment-plan man in London, and subsequently figured on her massive bosom at the court at which she was presented as wife of a member of parliament.

The present earl cruelly resented this action on the part of his half brother and predecessor, the fourteenth lord, and it has contributed not a little to deprive him of that infectious gayety and geniality which was so marked a characteristic of his gallant father. It was the latter, by the bye, who established the steamship service between Galway and America in the first half of the nineteenth century, a line which would be in existence today had it not been for mismanagement after his death.

Lord Eglinton has had no end of trouble in connection with claimants to his honors and estates, and has been put to no little expense in connection with the defense of his rights. Among the most notable claimants has been a man of the name of William T. Fulton. Then there is a George Seton Anderson, connected with one of the great shipping houses at Liverpool, while a third claimant is one of the veterans of the charge of the light brigade at Balaklava.

George Seton Anderson's claim, however, is aimed not at the earldom of Eglinton but against the earldom of Winton, which is one of the inherited honors of the present Lord Eglinton. This earldom of Winton came into his family through his father, the thirteenth Lord Eglinton, who was able to prove to the satisfaction of the crown and of the committee of privileges of the house of lords that he was descended from the first Earl Winton and was heir to his honors. He based his successful claim on the fact that the fifth earl of Winton died without issue. This fifth Lord Winton was implicated in the Jacobite rising in the early portion of the eighteenth century and was incarcerated in the tower of London, from which he managed to effect his escape, seeking refuge at Rome, where he died towards the close of the century in question.

Now, there has always been a question as to whether he left any legitimate issue. So far, no proof, valid in law, has been produced to show that he even married. But there are all sorts of stories in existence, according to some of which he married in Italy and left issue there, while, according to others, he made frequent visits to Scotland, under the name of Seton, and married there. If he left children, either of the male or of the female sex, their descendants would have rights prior to those of Lord Eglinton to the earldom of Winton, which, being an ancient Scottish honor, can be inherited by women as well as men.

The entire question rests upon the point as to whether he did or did not marry, and to this day the search is being pursued for information about the matter not only by Scotch and English people but also by Americans, among them being, I understand, George Seton-Thompson, the writer of animal stories.

There are few Scotch peers who unite more honors than Lord Eglinton, who combines in his person the lines of no less than four great houses—namely: the Montgomerys of Eaglesham, the Eglintons of Eglinton, the Barclays of Ardrossan, and the Setons, one of whose ancestors married the sister of King Robert Bruce. One of the Montgomerys figures in the ballad of Chevy Chase as "the courteous knight" who took "The Percy" prisoner, and in Eglinton castle is still preserved the battleax which Sir Hugh Montgomery wrested on that occasion from the hand of the gallant Hotspur. The earldom of Eglinton dates back to 1507, while the barony of Montgomery dates from 1449.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

TOLD IN THE HILLS.

A Play in Four Acts.

BY

MARAH ELLIS RYAN and M'PHERSON TURNBULL.

Presented at Powers' Theater, Chicago, by Edwin Arden and His Company, June 24, 1906. The Cast:

Tilly Hardy	Edna Dorman
Fred Dreyer	Louise Galloway
Charles Stuart	George Christie
Rachel Hardy	Mabel Roebuck
Genesee Jack	Edwin Arden
Capt. Holt	Edward Ellis
Lieut. Phil Murray	Walter D. Greene
Lieut. Laurence Rafferty	Bruce McRae
Smith	Joseph Brennan
Dolan	James Bevins
Olsen	R. R. Neil
Henry Hardy	Roy Fairchild
Maj. Dreyer	Joseph Brennan

"Told in the Hills," which had its first presentation on any stage at Powers' last evening, probably can be brought into such shape that it will prove a moneymaker on the road, and will be acceptable at certain houses devoted to the better grade of melodrama in the large cities. As a summer attraction at Powers' it is likely to be carried through a few weeks if the weather remains cool and the present competent cast be retained. Some shaping up of the material will have to take place, however, and the personal popularity of certain players, as well as the interest in the novel from which the play is made, will have to be depended upon to draw the amusement seeker.

The piece as it stands at present lacks in that it wants a dominating interest—the interest that is contained in a central character so sharply and strongly drawn that it claims attention and holds it, or an action or achievement which is made so vital that the onlooker is led to feel its importance or power. The intent of the dramatizers clearly was to make Genesee Jack a figure so romantic and so attractive that he and his deeds would keep the spectator keen. The personality of Edwin Arden—in certain respects the best impersonator of truly romantic rôles our stage possesses today—accomplished this intent in large degree last evening, but it was his personality more than the work of the dramatizers that deserves the credit for the accomplishment. And as for a central dramatic motive, this was lacking because of interest being divided between the love affair of Jack and Rachel and the uprising of the Indians. Neither is so prominently developed that it dominates, and trying to keep both in evidence results in weakness and in lessening of the auditor's concern.

The play now has a first act which is good, a second one which is diffuse and weak in climax, a third which is cleverly planned, but is too long drawn out to be entirely effective, and a fourth which is improbable almost to the point of futility. Mrs. Ryan and her coworker, Mr. Turnbull, have introduced the auditor into the ranch house of Henry Hardy on a Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock. A blizzard of large dimensions is raging, and Mrs. Hardy and Miss Dreyer, the major's daughter, are greatly worried over the absence from home of Rachel Hardy. She has been away since the afternoon before, for what reason is not made clear, and Genesee Jack has gone to rescue her from the storm and bring her home.

Charles Stuart, a novel writer, also is there, and he, too, is worried over the young woman's absence. He persuades the women to retire and promises to watch for Miss Hardy's return. Wood being wanted for the fire, he goes to fetch it, and Rachel and Jack appear. Jack loves the woman, but may not tell her so, and she loves him. He declares his intention of going away for good and begs her not to tell any one that he had brought her home. She is to say that it was a Kootenai Indian named Monte—his title since he is an adopted son of the tribe—and she does so when questioned later by Stuart. Stuart and Jack meet, and it is learned that they are brothers who years before had quarreled. Charles had betrayed a girl named Annie who had lived in their home, and then had wed another woman. Jack to save the girl's honor and give to her boy an honest name married her, and then, leaving her, had come west. Charles' wife having died, he comes to beg Jack to free Annie and let the wrong of eight years ago be righted by a marriage between her and himself. Jack refuses, and the brothers part still as enemies.

Capt. Holt, a blundering officer at the post, enters with Murray and Rafferty and it is learned that the horses of the post have been stolen. Jack is suspected, because it is learned that he has been absent all night and his Indian friends also have disappeared. He is brought before the captain, will not explain where he has been, and is put under arrest. In the second act he is in the hospital tent a prisoner. The Indians, who are suspected of having stolen the horses, have not been intercepted, and the Kootenais who are believed to be guilty are fired upon by Holt's orders just as certain of the tribe are approaching with a message of peace. Massacre is imminent, and Jack finally induces his guard to let him escape in order that he may save the whites.

The third act is in a gully back of a deserted mine, where the troopers and Rachel and Miss Dreyer have been surrounded by Indians. It is near dawn, and the reconnoitering party which was sent out returns with hopeless reports of no possible way of escape. Jack appears, having come through a shaft of his old mine which the Indians believe to be haunted. All escape through this passageway except Jack, who remains with the murdered son of the Indian chief. He will meet the Indians and try to arrange for peace. He starts off with the body of the boy and is shot twice and falls, supposedly dead.

The fourth act is at the ranch. Rachel learns the truth concerning Jack's past history, Charles receives a visit from a negro servant who brings him Annie's son and the news that Annie has died. Jack is brought back by a rescuing party headed by Holt and seems to be beyond all aid, when he is told of Annie's death and that he is free. He revives, declares he is going to live, and the curtain falls with the brothers reconciled and Rachel in Jack's arms.

The first act is well constructed and is brought to an effective climax. The second is weak, the gossip of three soldiers in the tent being poor comedy and useless. The scene between Miss Dreyer, Murray and Rafferty, and Rachel is not bad, and the meeting of Jack and Charles is fairly well arranged, although in the main superfluous, since Rachel in the scene which follows could accomplish all that is there accomplished and without the resultant repetition. The climax of the scene as played last night was too slow in tempo and therefore lacked effectiveness. Unfamiliarity with the lines and resultant hesitancy may have been responsible for this, but if not, then the dialogue should be condensed and made more telling.

The third act is well done up to the entrance of Jack, even the chatter of the women being not without its reason. But the digging up of the buried Indian and the long scenes over him and his belongings could well be shortened. The exit of Rachel was poorly accomplished because of the actor who played her brother and who shoved her off the scene. The shooting of Jack is a striking climax to the act. The fourth act is made weak through the seemingly hopeless illness of Jack and through the seeming heartlessness of his being brought to life by the news of the death of Annie—a woman wholly innocent of any wrongdoing so far as he himself is concerned. These are the chief shortcomings in the play as noted last evening. They are not irremediable, but they demand attention if "Told in the Hills" is to succeed.

There are some changes in details of presentation which also should have attention. In the first place, price tags should be removed from all the blankets used, and the blankets should not be so immaculate and new. Jack's suit should show some signs of wear, far more than it does. Rachel and Jack, after a night fighting a blizzard, should not appear with unruffled hair and virtually no snow on their clothes, and there should be some indication of their being slightly cool, not to say frozen, after such an outing. Hoofbeats of horses should not be so loud, after a snowfall of long duration, as they are in the second act. The shouts with which Jack is greeted in the third act could be subdued into naturalness with gain to the dramatic impressiveness of a situation so critical as is that in which these entrapped persons are supposed to be.

Rachel, referring to her ride with Jack, should not speak of "this morning" when the afternoon is that of the following day. The three women in the last act should not appear in exquisite gowns, faultless in every detail, when they are supposed to be surrounded by murderous Indians, and it is open to question if brand new mission furniture was known in ranch houses in the far west in 1860. Jack's wounded hand also should not be grabbed by the doctor and Charles and mauled as it was last night.

These are but details, it is true, in a production that is of more than usual worth, but they make for much in dramatic completeness and for the accuracy which is an essential nowadays. Of the individual performance of the members of the cast occasion will be taken to speak later in the week.

FIRST SESSION OF 59TH CONGRESS MAKES A RECORD FOR "REALLY TRULY" REFORM LAWS.

Besides Meat and Rate Bills, Not to Mention the Pure Food Measure, Nation's Solons Settle the Panama Canal Question, Make Alcohol Cheaper, and Enact Many Beneficial Measures.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Important measures extending federal regulation and control have been enacted at the first session of the Fifty-ninth congress, now rapidly drawing to a close. The railroad rate and the meat inspection bills will soon become laws, and, before adjournment, both houses will have passed pure food bills, which, though dissimilar in terms, are both based on the principle of federal control. It is the present intention to try to adjust these differences before adjournment.

There has been no marked division on party lines in effecting these results. The only disagreement has been as to ways and means.

Besides branching into this new field of legislative endeavor, the present session of congress has made itself important in other ways. It has added one new state, perhaps two, to the union, and thus has disposed of four territories.

Great results to the people are expected from the removal of the tax on denatured alcohol. If predictions be fulfilled heat, light, and power are to be supplied cheaply by alcohol made from the corn fields of the country, from sugar beets, sugar cane, fruits, and vegetables.

Canal Status Settled.

The questions which have perplexed congress for some time regarding the Panama canal have been settled. The president may dig a lock canal as fast as he pleases. A joint resolution was agreed to requiring canal supplies to be made of American manufacture.

Congress has not dwelt with the foreign situation to any great extent. An act making a much needed reorganization of the consular service was passed. Nothing was done in the Santo Domingo controversy. Legislation affecting colonial possessions was meager and unimportant, although tariff revision for the Philippines received the attention and approval of the house, and an act was passed revising the tariff collected by the Philippine government. A coinage act for the islands also was passed.

But congress talked about our own tariff law. It broke the record for words. Thousands and hundreds of thousands more than have been uttered at any other one session of congress were compiled in the Congressional Record. Not only on the floors of the two houses has the word record been heavy, but the publications resulting from committee investigations of subjects are larger and more numerous than at any previous session.

A large number of bills were introduced in the two houses. The calendar records that the number reached nearly 20,000, 500 more than were introduced during the entire three sessions of the last congress.

Can't Keep Down Expenses.

With all the strenuous exertions of an appropriations committee in the house with a new chairman—Representative Tawney—it has been impossible to hold the appropriations down to much less than $900,000,000, although "economy" was the watchword from the start.

One of the important features of the session has been the careful scrutiny which the demands of the different government departments received from the house appropriations committee. The hearings accorded to government officials asking for money to run their departments and bureaus have been more exhaustive than ever before. The result has been the enactment of restraining legislation on nearly every appropriation bill.

First in this class is that requiring heads of all executive departments to apportion, under pain of penalty, the appropriations they receive into equal parts to avoid deficiencies. The only excuse that will be accepted is some unforeseen event. Unless this can be shown, the head of a department asking for a deficiency appropriation shall be summarily removed, and lays himself liable in the future to fine, and even imprisonment.

Another requirement makes it necessary for each department to submit all of its estimates for appropriations in the book of estimates sent to congress at the beginning of each session.

Clerks Not to Be Shifted.

Still another matter of economy is the taking away from a government clerk the right to secure a transfer to another department at a higher salary until he has served three years in the position he wishes to abandon.

The prompt turning into the treasury of all moneys collected by heads of departments as government revenue is another safeguard against extravagance. It was found that during the last year one department had collected revenue to the amount of $730,000 and disbursed it without authority of law.

A strict accounting is hereafter to be received from all United States court clerks. A revelation that one such clerk had received emoluments amounting to $[illegible] a day brought about this provision.

Although there was an effort to hold down the permanent annual appropriations, the character of expense was increased nearly $5,000,000 to a total of more than $140,000,000. The increase in this appropriation came in one day in the house. The meat inspection bill carried a permanent annual appropriation of $3,000,000 and the same day the house passed a bill adding $1,000,000 to a like amount annually for the support of the state militia.

Workingmen Secure Legislation.

Organized labor succeeded in securing the enactment of the employers' liability bill. This law will make it possible for an employe to secure damages for injury, notwithstanding his own negligence may have been in part responsible.

Another bill that has received the approval of the senate, which doubtless will become a law before the end of the session, is that limiting the continuous service of trainmen to sixteen consecutive hours' work, to be followed by ten hours' rest. The eight hour day bill received a favorable vote from the labor committee of the house, but too late to secure action at the hands of congress. The anti-injunction bill was postponed in committee until the next session of congress.

One of the novel features of lawmaking was the enactment of a measure to preserve Niagara falls. This action was in direct response to a popular demand that the falls be not denuded of their beauty to serve the purposes of commerce. The legislation found no opposition. It was perfected in the house committee on rivers and harbors under the guidance of Chairman Burton, who introduced the bill.

"Greater Navy" Set Back.

Enthusiasts for a "greater navy" regard the legislation of the session as inimical. Congress authorized the construction of the "biggest battleship afloat," with the provision that before the plans are submitted or bids received or accepted, the plans of the ship must be submitted to congress. This provision was fought vigorously in the house and was carried by only a small majority.

Hazing at the naval academy was given further rebuke by the passage of a bill giving the secretary of the navy discretion to dismiss or otherwise punish hazers.

A law was passed for appropriate marking of the graves of confederate veterans who died in northern prisons during the civil war.

The wearing of the insignia of the Grand Army of the Republic or other soldier organizations by others than members was made a misdemeanor with appropriate punishment.

The president was authorized to take the necessary steps to preserve "American antiquities" by creating government reservations in locations where such antiquities exist.

Alaska was given the right to send a delegate to congress. The secretary of the interior was also authorized to allot homesteads to the natives of Alaska.

Although the ship subsidy measure did not prevail, twenty-four acts relative to shipping became laws. The application of the coastwise laws to the Philippines was postponed until 1909. An omnibus bill authorizing the erection of a number of aids to navigation became a law.

Indians May Become Citizens.

Liberality towards the Indians characterized the several enactments on that subject. Their tendency is to grant full citizenship to those Indians who show capability for it, to open for settlement certain of the reservations, the proceeds to go to the Indians, and to provide for the distribution of the tribal property to the individuals of the Osages, the richest tribe in existence. A bill winding up the affairs of the five civilized tribes became a law.

Ten bills were passed relating to the establishment of additional courts, etc. The most important is that which prescribes the exact procedure to be followed in cases where the government undertakes to gain information to be used later in criminal procedure, and is intended to give full understanding to the witness and party seeking information regarding the subject of immunity.

Important to the southern states was the enactment of the quarantine bill, providing for coöperation of state and federal authorities in suppressing yellow fever.

President Roosevelt was given $25,000 to pay traveling expenses of himself and invited guests.

The private pension legislation of the session was heavy, and many hundreds of such acts will be signed before the end comes.

A bill introduced by Representative Sherman of New York was passed which will make it unlawful hereafter to stamp the words "government assay" on articles manufactured of gold and silver.

SUCCESSFUL' MEN MODERN PILATES.

President Hadley Warns Yale Graduates Against Glamour.

DEFINES REAL GREATNESS

Lincoln and Lee More to Be Copied than Marlboroughs and Louis XV.

New Haven, Conn., June 24.—[Special.]—President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, in his baccalaureate sermon to the graduates today, warned them against the glamour of the Pontius Pilates of today—the leaders of commercialism and politics, who have gained temporal success. President Hadley said:

"Men are saved by what they do, not by what they profess. But it is not enough to get things done. They must be done right.

"In law or in medicine, in business or in politics, you will find heroes that you wish to be like. A strong man of any kind will find friends and followers. Be he prize fighter or fanatic, politician or millionaire, philosopher or Christian, there will be men who will choose him for a hero and stand or fall by the choice.

"I believe that whenever it comes to a great crisis—political, industrial, or moral—there is enough of the spirit of Christ in America to save us.

"But though we have good ground for hope we are far short of having ground for complacent assurance. That part of our people which turns with avidity to sensational accounts of robbery and arson and murder is not far removed from the multitude that cried, 'Not this man, but Barabbas!'"

Others Followers of Caiaphas.

"That part which looks to platform or press for appeals to its passions, and which seeks a leader who can give voice to the promptings of its own prejudices or emotions, has advanced little beyond the stage of those who clamored for the crucifixion.

"And that part of our people which, though more respectable than the first group and more enlightened than the second, is nevertheless content to make prosperity in business or politics the test of success, and to give all its thoughts to the attainment of that prosperity by any means not too grossly inconsistent with respectability or enlightenment, does not differ greatly from him who washed his hands of the whole matter that was the most momentous in the world's history.

"I do you the justice to think that none of you will choose Barabbas. Nor do I believe that many of you will be found in the group that follows after Caiaphas. But there is danger, and grave danger, that without knowing it you will enroll yourselves among the followers and worshipers of Pontius Pilate.

Lincoln Greater than Marlborough.

"As we look back on the pages of history, the men whose figures rise large and inspiring are not those who amassed fortunes or won battles or conquered empires; but those who, amid the hostility of the critics and the indifference of the world about them, have strongest stood for principle.

"The battles and the fortunes of a Marlborough—nay, the very empire of a Louis—are before the majestic constancy of purpose of William of Orange.

"In the great drama of slavery and secession we draw our largest inspiration not from the brilliant arguments of the orators or the brilliant strategy of the generals but from the patient endurance of two great, heavy hearted men on opposite sides, unlike in all else but alike in unselfish devotion to principle as they understood it—Lee and Lincoln."

COLLEGES WHACKED BY PASTOR

Dr. Bartlett Says They Are Turning Out Young Men Too Much Imbued with the Commercial Spirit.

That many universities and colleges are giving undue stimulus to the spirt of commercialism is the belief of the Rev. W. A. Bartlett, who preached in First Congregational church last night on "Every Man His Price."

"It is noticeable," the pastor said, "that quite a proportion of college presidents and other commencement speakers this summer have lamented the spirit of greed which is seen in business, government, and life generally. But these educators do not have many strong remedies to suggest for this condition. It is my belief that the spirit of many colleges and universities is becoming so commercial that it is not to be wondered at if the students in those institutions go out with the idea that every man is worth his price. Before President Harper died he spoke of the lack of religious training in the colleges of the country as one of the great defects in our educational system.

"There are in New England institutions, founded as purely religious and benevolent training places, which are now dominated by a commercialism which admits of little else that the idea that a man must be trained to make his way. A noted New York preacher told me awhile ago that it was almost impossible to get workers in his Sunday school because they all wanted pay. This is due in part to the tremendous expense of living in such a city. But it also grows out of a false conception of life."

DENIED MACARONI; STABS COOK.

Restaurant Porter Attacks Another Employe in Wabash Avenue Place and Victim Later Dies.

Primani Primo, cook at the Paris saloon and restaurant, Eldridge court and Wabash avenue, was fatally stabbed last evening by Frank Luckesi, the porter, on his refusal to cook macaroni at Luckesi's order. The latter fled.

Primo was taken to the Chicago Emergency hospital, where he died at 8:45 o'clock.

After a month's search for the assailants of Jacob La Buy, a teamster, 76 Wabansia avenue, who was attacked by boys at Elston and Clybourn avenues on April 20, John Wetten, 17 years old, 910 Ashland avenue, is under arrest at the Rawson street station. La Buy was driving near Elston and Clybourn avenues, when boys threw iron ore at him. He died at the county hospital on May 26.

4,000 REPUDIATE DOWIE AT MASSMEETING IN ZION CITY.

Questions Submitted to Vote and the Results Will Be Presented in Court as Evidence in Trial.

Four thousand members of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church at a massmeeting in Zion City yesterday repudiated John Alexander Dowie and sustained every step taken by Wilbur Glenn Voliva and his supporters in the deposition of the old leader. This vote was the result of questions asked witnesses by Judge Landis at the hearings on Friday and Saturday, when he inquired whether the revolt was one of the leaders alone or the whole body of Dowieites. An official photographer was present and the pictures taken will be shown to Judge Landis.

Questions asked the members, with the standing vote on each, were as follows:

In favor of the transfer of the Zion estate from John Alexander Dowie to Alexander Granger, made by Wilbur Glenn Voliva—Affirmative, 4,000; negative, 8.

In favor of the action taken by the council of overseers and elders in suspending John Alexander Dowie from the offices he held and membership in th church—Affirmative, 4,000; negative, 1.

In favor of Wilbur Glenn Voliva as acting general overseer of the church and who have so regarded him since April 1, please stand—Affirmative, 4,000; negative, 1.

The one persistent negative voter was Hubert Grant, who is a stenographer for Dr. Dowie's attorneys.

While these questions were being voted on a band of between 150 and 200 of the Dowie faithful assembled in the tabernacle where sermons were preached by Elder Hall of San Antonio and Elder A. E. Arrington.

The Zion City band will give a free concert at Central Zion tabernacle, Michigan avenue, Chicago, this evening.

GUARD WOMAN; FEAR SUICIDE.

Mrs. Dolly Van Orman Tries to Carry Out Death Pact with Her Husband.

Relatives of Mrs. Dolly Van Orman, 8 South Morgan street, are guarding her night and day to prevent her carrying out a threat to commit suicide. She says it is no longer her intention to end her life, but they fear this is but a clever scheme to put them off their guard, and will not relax their vigilance. Should Mrs. Van Orman carry out this threat it would be the fulfillment of a suicide pact practically made with her husband, Fred Van Orman, who shot himself Saturday afternoon just as Policeman F. C. Radloff knocked at the door. The woman tried to seize the revolver, but was prevented by the policeman. Van Orman was afflicted with consumption.

Marshall Field & Co.

The Last Week of our Pre-Inventory Clearance Sales will be marked by some of the most radical price-making of the season. The extent of the price-reductions reveals our determined purpose to clear our stocks at once of all odd lines, broken assortments, and special lots. Many seasonable and desirable pieces of merchandise, which are individually just as good as if selected from full assortments, are being offered at exceedingly attractive prices. Many of the best bargains, in quantities too limited to advertise, will be readily found in practically every section throughout the store.

Women's White Waists: The Last Six Days of Rare Price-Making

The advantages offered in the great June Sale of White Waists during these remaining six days are such as should make this section one of the busiest centers in the entire store. Recent heavy shipments have been added to the specially priced waists in the June sale, affording an opportunity for selection not approached this season in our lines. Sixth Floor.

We have included in our reduced lines all odd sizes and broken lines in lingerie, lace and silk waists, from the most elaborate to the simplest styles.

Lingerie Waists of white lawn, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and embroidery, prettily fashioned long or short sleeves, sale price, $1.50.

Lingerie Waists of fine mull, made with short yoke effect of rows of Valenciennes lace, outlined with scallops of embroidery, sale price, $2.50.

Handkerchief Linen Waists of a very fine quality, some with hand embroidery front, others with Hardanger embroidery, sale price, $3.95.

Lingerie Waists of fine French lawn, with yoke of narrow rows of inserting and beading, finished with floral pattern of embroidered medallions to outline yoke, short fancy sleeves, sale price, $4.25.

Pre-Inventory Sale Handkerchiefs.

The heavily reduced prices which go into effect today will very readily effect a complete clearance of each of the several lines to be placed on sale—they are bargains such as have been offered very seldom during the past six months. First Floor.

Women's all-linen Embroidered Handkerchiefs, reduced to 18c.

Women's linen Hemstitched Handkerchiefs, reduced to 15c.

A splendid assortment of women's colored Embroidered Handkerchiefs, Lace Edge Handkerchiefs, Corded Center Handkerchiefs and Embroidered Center Handkerchiefs, reduced to 25c.

Women's unlaundered Initial Handkerchiefs, each, 18c; six for $1.00

Women's Silk and Lisle Elbow-Length Gloves.

The demand for elbow length Gloves makes this announcement one of unusual importance. Our lines are well equipped with the desired sizes and qualities in black and white. The Basement Floor values are remarkable at these prices:

Women's Lace Top Gloves, with silk bands, in black and white, 16-button length, special, pair, $1.25.

Women's Imported Lisle Gloves, with plain hands and arms, 16 button length, with two buttons at wrist, a very fine quality, $1.25. Basement.

32-in. Fine Shirting Madras, Special, 12½c.

This is one of the strongest values offered this season in Domestic Wash Goods, the regular price in many instances being almost double. The designs are desirable stripes and checks on blue, pink, tan and gray grounds, yard, 12½c. Basement.

Mercerized Chambray, Figured Batistes, Corded Madras, and Mohairs in stripes and dots, reduced to 9c a yard.

Summer Comforters: Special, $1.85.

Our most popular line of Summer Comfortables for the remaining six days will be sold at this remarkable low price. They are of our own make; filled with two pounds of the finest cotton and covered with the best quality of figured silkoline; sizes 2x2½ yards, each, $1.85. Third Floor.

Long Lengths in Women's High-Grade Kid Gloves

Low prices and complete assortments are two very strong features of our present lines of Women's Fine Kid Gloves. The growing scarcity of skins has caused a marked increase in the prices of Kid Gloves—we have maintained our prices at their customary low standards. The assortments are amply supplied with all the desired colors, lengths and qualities in Glace and Suede Kid Gloves. First Floor.

Notwithstanding this scarcity, the same careful discrimination is given to the exclusion from the lines of which our Kid Gloves are made of all skins in which the slightest imperfections are found. In view of this condition of the market, it will be wise economy to provide abundantly for future needs at our present prices—according to length and quality, from $2.00 to $4.50 a pair.

Basement Section—Hundreds of pairs of thoroughly good Kid Gloves, many taken from the lines in the main section, including all the colors and styles of the season, have been placed on sale in the Basement Salesroom at quick selling reductions.

Black Crinkled Crepe de Chine, Special $1.00.

Another very attractive offering of High-Grade Black Dress Goods—a fine quality of Silk and Wool Crinkled Crepe de Chine of a soft, silky finish, very desirable for afternoon gowns and evening costumes; we have also included a line of 44-inch silk and wool Grenadines at this low price, yard $1.00. Second Floor.

Fine Trimmed Hats at Final Pre-Inventory Reductions.

Practically our entire line of Flower and Foliage Trimmed Hats, also many Street Hats from the French section, in three assortments:

$10.00 $12.00 $15.00

The greater number of hats in each of these three lots are marked at half the regular price. Practically all the favored styles especially brought out for the midsummer season—the high class, exclusive and original designs in Sailor Hats and Brim Hats from our own workrooms—are included at each price. Fourth Floor.

Sterling Silver at Pre-Inventory Reductions.

The merit of the pieces and the reductions in the prices should make this one of our most attractive pre-inventory sales. The reasonable extent of the values offered can best be appreciated after the pieces are seen. A few of the many lines included:

NATIONALS SCARE GREETING CROWD

Barely Beat Out St. Louis in First Home Game After Brilliant Trip.

POOR PLAY; SCORE, 8 TO 7.

Cluster of Misplays in Fifth Give Visitors Six Runs—Win in Ninth.

Murphy's Spuds came home yesterday and made the 14,000 wild, enthusiastic fans who welcomed them back from their record breaking eastern trip think the stories about their wonderful ball playing were fairy tales. Eventually, however, they managed to beat McClosky's aggregation of bush leaguers 8 to 7 after one of the weirdest, wildest, most laughable exhibitions ever seen.

Before the fifth inning was over each team should have been charged up with two defeats and sent home in disgrace. It was fearful, awful, wretched, felonious baseball —but just the kind to set the big Sunday crowd wild, for after Chicago had made monkeys of St. Louis and, running circles around the cardinals, gained a lead of 6 to 1, the worm turned, and in one round McClosky's crowd, aided by wretched errors of Pfiester and Moran, fell upon Pfiester, amassed six runs in four minutes, and took the lead.

Steinfeldt Drives Chance Home.

The Spuds, looking like small potatoes and few in a hill, and humiliated before their admirers, evened up the score at once, and then the teams settled down to a desperate fight to see which could drag the small honor of a victory out of that mass of blunders and misplays. From the sixth inning on the game dragged slowly towards the finish. Brown, who was called to the relief, stopped the cardinals, and Druhot settled—so there was nothing doing in the run line until two were out in the ninth, when Chance slammed a triple into the crowd on the right field line and an instant later Steinfeldt cracked out his third hit, a slashing drive into the right field crowd and broke up the game.

What honors there were in the game belong justly to Steinfeldt and to Sheckard. Once, in the midst of the St. Louis rally, Sheckard, by a brilliant running catch, averted worse disaster, and once Steinfeldt, racing straight back from third, pulled a short lob fly off the top of his head and prevented trouble. Also Steinfeldt was the batting hero.

Horrible Details.

It is horrible to have to tell details, but here they are: Sheckard's vicious bounder escaped Beckley in the first, he stole second, and scored on Steinfeldt's hit. Bennett's fumble, Sheckard's sacrifice, a passed ball, and Schulte's long fly yielded another in the third.

Trouble was bred in the fourth, when, with two out, Smoot poked up a weak foul fly. It was Chance's—but everybody on the infield claimed it and finally Moran crashed into Chance and muffed the ball. Smoot tripled and scored when Shannon beat out a slow twister to Evers.

In Chicago's half Steinfeldt started with a hit and advanced a base on Burch's bad throw in. Tinker sacrificed and Evers sent home the run with a hit. Moran scratched a double over first, the ball hitting the end of his bat, and Pfiester was hit, filling the bases. Beckley picked up Hofman's bounder and threw to the plate. The throw was wide because Old Eagle Eye hurried to make the double play, and everybody was safe. Schulte singled and Pfiester, blundering on towards home, scored in spite of himself because the throw went wide.

Visitors Come Back Hard.

It looked so easy the crowd jeered—but the cardinals came back in astounding style. McBride started it all with a hit. Sheckard made a wonderful catch of Murray's long drive, and Druhot rolled an easy one to Pfiester, who let the cardinal pitcher beat out the hit and then threw wild. Burch bunted and Moran threw wild to first. Bennett ripped a double straight over third, and the crowd began to get uneasy. Hoelskoetter raised the anxiety with a nice hit. Smoot fouled to Schulte. Shannon walked, and then Old Eagle Eye cracked a triple to the crowd in center—and the cardinals took the lead. Chance sent the hurry up call for Brown, who struck out McBride on three pitched balls.

The Spuds evened up in the fifth by grace of a hit by pitched ball, Moran's hit, and an error at third by Helterskelter, Coal Scuttle, Hocus Pocus, or whatever his name is, who let a thrown ball escape. Score:

Notes of the West Side Game.

St. Louis plays again today.

Chicago should have won in the sixth, but didn't because Schulte failed to sacrifice.

President Murphy put in new chairs—of the infant high chair variety—in the boxes upstairs.

Steinfeldt got all the putouts in the sixth, catching Murray's fly and stopping both Druhot and Burch at third.

John Ryan, acting for a crowd of Brown's admirers, presented the pitcher with a gold watch just as the game was starting.

Miss Marie Periolet presented to Manager Chance a stuffed bear cub in a glass cage. The cub will be kept as the official mascot of the club.

Murray, the new St. Louis catcher, is a Notre Dame boy. He hits viciously and catches fairly well, considering his lack of professional experience.

Druhot apparently will make a grand ball player after he gets through as a pitcher. He is one of the fastest men in the business, a left hand hitter, and apparently a grand ball player.

The new National league rule regarding preliminary practice takes effect today. Hereafter an hour will be devoted to it instead of a half hour. The schedule follows: 2:20 to 2:50, batting practice for home team; 2:50 to 3:10, batting practice for visitors; 3:10 to 3:20, fielding practice for home team; 3:20 to 3:30, fielding practice for visitors. This reverses the previous order and eliminates the dangerous batting practice near the stands.

Carpenter and Klem shared in the general wretchedness of the game—but it is hard to blame an umpire for being mad when the teams play such ball. Klem apparently robbed both Chicago and St. Louis of double plays. In the sixth inning, with Druhot at second and Burch at first, Bennett rapped a hot one to Steinfeldt, who touched the bag and threw to Chance, who scooped the ball off the dirt, apparently a foot ahead of the runner. Klem refused to allow the double. In the same inning, with Hofman and Sheckard on bases, Chance hit a terrific liner straight to Shannon. Circus Solly kept running and seemingly was cut off from second by Shannon's throw, but Klem declared he got back in safety.

THANK YOU, KINDLY, CINCINNATI

SIXTEEN INNING TIE GAME IS PLAYED AT SOUTH CHICAGO.

Home Team and White Rocks Struggle Until Darkness, Leaving the Score at One Each.

White Rocks and South Chicagos played sixteen innings at South Chicago yesterday without settling the question of supremacy and then were separated by darkness. The score was 1 to 1, the home team tying the knot in the eighth, when McKee drove the ball over the left field fence. Skel Roach pitched the full sixteen innings without giving a base on balls. Merz was to pitch for the Rocks, but failed to show up, and Charley Black made an able substitute. McCann did great work in left and threw out a man at the plate. Score:

TIMELIEST HIT OF BASEBALL SEASON

Schaefer, Called from Bench, Wins for Detroit After Two Out in Ninth.

BUM THUMB, BULLY EYE.

White Sox Lose Last of the Series, 3 to 2, in a Spectacular Finish.

You never can tell—in baseball.

There were two dead Tigers in the ninth, one still kicking weakly on first base, and a live one—extremely alive—in the trap facing Gunner White. The score was 2 to 1 in Chicago's favor and the big crowd was filing out through the gates when Schaefer and his bum thumb, batting for "Red" Donahue, the flinger, with one swish of his bat changed the whole map.

Swinging at the first ball pitched to him, "Germany" clouted it a mile and a half over Hahn's head into the left field bleachers fair, trotted gloatingly around the circuit behind Charley O'Leary, the aforesaid kicking Tiger, and the score was 3 to 2, Detroit.

Instead of leaving for their trip comfortably resting in fourth place, with a chance for third, the White Sox quit the town last night clinging to their first division berth by the tips of their little fingers only, and with two clubs dragging with all their weight to pull them down.

Pair of Arch Traitors.

This firm of O'Leary & Schaefer call Chicago their homes and do hibernate here, but after yesterday's team work in the ninth inning they will find it an extremely cold winter unless they seek other quarters for the next off season.

It was an awful jolt for "Doc" White, for the Sox, and for the rooters. It was worse than being beaten 40 to 0.

Even Schaefer could not have brought defeat, however, without that fit of wabbles in the sixth, when a couple of errors in succession put a Detroit run over the plate without a batted ball going outside the diamond. Davis booted a nasty bounder from Crawford for a starter. Cobb bunted to White, and Donohue, dashing in with that habitual foolish habit of his, merely to watch a pitcher field the ball, left first for Isbell to cover. "Issy" dropped the throw and Crawford reached third, from where he scored when Lowe pushed a slow one to Isbell after Coughlin had popped.

Sox First to Score.

That tied up the one run Chicago had put over by heady play in the first round. Hahn led for the Sox with a single and Fielder Jones, catching the Tiger infield all out of shape laying for his bunt, made it look cheap by pushing a little hit through where O'Leary ought to have been. Isbell sacrificed both runners ahead one base, and Hahn scored when Davis drove a long fly to center.

White held the Tigers safely until his support failed him and handed them a run in the sixth. Then the Sox broke the tie in the eighth with Fielder Jones' single, Isbell's sacrifice, and Davis' clean wallop to center, and it looked all over until Schaefer broke into the game without a license.

Undeterred by the upset, the Sox died hard in the last half. Sullivan led with a hard safe rap to right. Tannehill foozled his sacrifice and popped out. Rohe, batting for White, cracked a liner to left center, which Cobb pinched by a brilliant run and catch, and Hahn died on a roller to Lowe. Score:

Notes of the White Sox Game.

That's all with the Tigers for a while—thanks.

It is an awful tight fit for fourth place, with Chicago, Detroit, and St. Louis separated by one point only.

The Sox left last night for St. Louis where they are scheduled to play three games. Detroit went home to meet Cleveland.

Some of the spectators who saw eight and two-sixth innings of that game will find out what happened after they left when they read the papers.

The telegraph wires from downtown to the west side park broke down, and the score of the Spuds' game could not be posted, although an effort was made to get it by telephone.

The fans had been guying and roasting Schaefer all through the series for his antics on the coaching lines. There was a roar of derision when he came to bat in the ninth. Then they were sorry they spoke.

White was in trouble in the fifth, but came out with all banners flying. Two were out when Payne singled and reached second on Hahn's bobble. Donahue swatted a liner into center safely, but Fielder Jones shot it back to Sullivan so fast Payne was held on third. White passed Davy Jones, filling the corners, and struck out Lindsay, leaving three runs in the bud.

Chicago almost scored in the fourth. With one out O'Neil beat a hit to Lindsay and stole second. Sullivan fouled and Tannehill reached first safely in a mixup between Lindsay and Donahue. O'Neil tried to score from second on it, and only a great play by Payne stopped him. Donahue fired the ball high, but Payne jumped, caught it, and as he came down blocked O'Neil squarely away from the plate, getting the decision.

McIntyre's absence from left field in the last two games with Detroit here was explained yesterday by the announcement of his suspension by Manager Armour for alleged indifferent work. The Tiger manager claimed McIntyre loafed on Sullivan's three base hit in Friday's game instead of chasing it to the fence. The fielder resented the criticism, and his suspension followed. It may result in his loss to the Tigers.

No Game at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—The Cleveland-St. Louis game today was postponed on account of wet grounds.

ARTESIANS SHUT OUT ELGINS.

Catch by Kolar Saves the Day for the Local Team, the Score Being One to Nothing.

A good catch by Shortstop Kolar, with the bases full, saved the game for the Artesians against the Elgin Nationals at the former's park. The only tally was made on Lejeune's double and Maloney's error. Both teams fielded well. Score:

GAMES OF THE SEMI-PROS.

LAWNDALE DEFEATS MARQUETTE 2 TO 1 AT FORMER'S PARK.

Opfergelt Strikes Out Thirteen of Keary's Men, but Katoll Biffs a Home Run—Callahan Has to Work Hard to Win Game for Logan Squares Against Spaldings—Gunthers Find Fort Wayne Shamrocks Easy—Normals Thrash Athletics.

At Lawndale yesterday the home team beat the Marquettes in a clever game, 2 to 1. Both pitchers were effective, Opfergelt being possibly the steadier in close places. The college man struck out thirteen of Keary's kickers, whose lone tally resulted from Katoll's loft over the right field fence for a home run. Dwyer's playing at third was a feature. Score:

HARD WORK; CALLAHAN WINS.

Has to Furnish Most of the Help to Schmidt in Order to Defeat the Spaldings, Five to Two.

Jimmy Callahan had to do a lot of work yesterday in the game between the Logan Squares and the Spaldings at Jimmy's baseball yard in order to defeat Welch's men, who don't seem to get started this year. Schmidt pitched well, but was badly supported in pinches. However, Cal made three runs all by himself and fielded nicely. Score:

TIE SCORE OF 2-2 IN SOCCER MATCH

Pullmans and Metropolitan Rangers Fail to Determine the Championship.

NEW LEAGUERS DO WELL.

Both Teams Score a Goal in Each of the Intervals; Wright Is Penalized.

Playing fast football on a rough and slippery ground the Pullman team, champion of the Association Football league of Chicago, and the Metropolitan Ranger team, champion of the Chicago League of Association Football, yesterday played a tie game, each side getting two goals.

The match at the Metropolitan grounds, Sixty-ninth street and Ashland avenue, was for the team championship of Chicago. The Rangers by the good showing elevated themselves in the opinion of the soccer fans, 500 of whom were on hand.

Pullman had the better of the attack, especially at the start and at the finish, when for the last ten minutes it had several opportunities to score. The incursions of the Metropolitans were not so numerous but were more productive, and it was fortunate for Pullman it got a second goal from a penalty kick. Wright of the home team jeopardized the chances of his side by saying something to Referee Dawe that caused his removal to the side lines. His absence would have made the game one sided, but the difficulty was settled by an apology.

Breeze with the "Mets."

At starting the Metropolitans had a fairly strong breeze from the north behind them. Pullman was aggressive and scored after twenty minutes of play, Shallcross hitting the cross bar with a lob shot and Smith breasting it through as it came out into play. Up to this point the home team had been unable to get far down the field, but soon Sperry cleverly put the ball past Wettengale on a pass from the right wing, and the score was even. Wettengale juggled a long shot, which nearly went through, but he finally cleared. At the other end Buchanan dove after a fast grounder from Watt and stopped it close to the post. At the interval each side had one goal.

Early in the second half Napier missed his kick and Briscoe got clear. He hit the side post with a clever kick. After twenty-five minutes McAleer fouled in the penalty area and Jimmy Watt scored, although he kicked straight at Buchanan. Within two minutes the home forwards went up the center and J. Buchanan equalized. After this Buchanan saved a good shot by Kasza, while Shallcross and Carragher both wasted good openings. Govier, who moved back to left half, hit the cross bar and Shallcross headed over.

Stick to the Finish.

The Metropolitan defense, though hard pressed at the finish, never flagged. Lineup:

Pullman.		Metropolitans.
Wettengale	Goal	E. Buchanan
Sutton	Right back	Guthbert
Napier	Left back	Brown
Williamson	Right half back	P. McAleer
Carragher	Center half back	Wright

From Chicago the team will go east, playing in Philadelphia and New York.

ST. PAUL DEFEATS CALUMETS.

Capture First Game of Series at Lacrosse for Carling Cup, Score Being Five to Three.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—[Special.]—In one of the prettiest games ever seen on the local grounds the St. Paul lacrosse team took the first game of the Carling cup series from the Calumets of Chicago today by a score of 5 to 3.

The Saints took the lead at the start and at the beginning of the last quarter the score was 4 to 1 in favor of the locals, but the Chicago boys were in better condition and started a spurt which threatened to turn the tide to victory. The Saints were worn out and the Chicagoans did make two goals, which came within one of tying the score, but the excellent work of Raymond, the St. Paul center, saved the game for the Saints at the last moment. YALE TRAINING AT AN END

Scheme of Working Oarsmen Under Worst Weather Conditions Prevents Getting a Line on Them—Harvard Picks Out Best Time and Fast Time in Practice Spins Is the Result—New Haven Men Much Lighter than Their Crimson Opponents.

New London, Conn., June 24.—[Special.]—"Sly John" Kennedy, the Yale crew coach, has wound up the training of his three crews without giving the anxious a chance to get a line on them. The crafty old coach has picked out the worst weather conditions on which to force Yale for its time rows all the time since the oarsmen came here. Harvard, in the meantime, has been working for "snap" easy conditions and has picked them for its time rows. In consequence Harvard has made from one and one-half to two minutes better time than Yale in all the four mile spins since the oarsmen came here.

The impression has got abroad that Harvard has a record breaking crew on the one hand and that on the other Yale's set of slender oarsmen are liable to fall out of the shell from sheer exhaustion before the last mile is reached. Yale's time, in view of the difficult conditions under which the rows were taken, is almost as good a showing as that made by Harvard, although it cannot be denied that the physique of the Yale oarsmen is much more frail than usual and contrasts sharply with the giants in the Harvard boat. Anything else than an even money bet is, however, unfair to the conditions under which the two eights will enter the race.

Today marked the first practice without time work. Until Thursday they will work out two or three miles daily at just enough of a pace to limber up for their battle of Thursday.

The Yale-Harvard regatta on Thursday will be the twenty-eighth on the Thames river at New London. As of late years it will attract a great throng of students, alumni, and friends of the two universities, more of them probably than for several years past. The spectacular race between the varsity eights last year, the unbounded confidence of Harvard men in Coach Wray, and the prospects of a victory for the crimson have stimulated interest this year and race day scenes in the old shipping town are sure to be lively. In the twenty-seven times the two universities have met Yale has been triumphant eighteen and Harvard seven, the other two races, triangular ones, having gone to Cornell. Harvard has not won since 1899.

The race record is 20:10, made by Yale in 1888. The crew does not run as cleanly as does Yale, its blade work being rough at the dip and splashy from a quick recovery at the finish. In other words, Coach Wray has trained his men in an English stroke, depending on power to drive the boat fast. With the freshmen eights and varsity four oared crews, good races seem certain.

WISCONSIN MAY NOT TRY AGAIN.

Badgers, It Is Said, Will Not Send Any More Crews to Poughkeepsie—O'Dea Goes West.

Madison, Wis., June 24.—[Special.]—Dissatisfaction, especially with the outcome of the freshman race, is the feeling in Madison over Wisconsin's showing at Poughkeepsie. Rowing enthusiasts firmly believed this year's freshman crew was the best since the days of McConville's winning eight.

Saturday's regatta makes it extremely doubtful whether or not the Badgers will send a crew east next year. It is said Wisconsin will abandon the eastern project and become a pioneer in the movement for a western intercollegiate regatta to be held annually on Lake Mendota.

Coach O'Dea will not return to Madison. He will go west to take up a homestead claim and engage in the sheep raising business.

GOLFERS PREPARING FOR THE PROFESSIONAL TOURNAMENT.

Some Great Scores Are Made in Sunday Practice—Egan and Ormiston to Represent the Amateurs.

With a few additions the field for the national open golf championship, which will start on Thursday at the Onwentsia club, will be about the same as that in the western open event at Homewood last week. The presence of Amateur Champion H. C. Egan and George Ormiston, the clever Pittsburg player, will add strength to the amateur representation.

Of the professionals who did not perform at Homewood last week the most noted who will play at Onwentsia are Alec Ross of Brasburn, Donald Ross of Oakley, Peter Robertson of Oakmont, David Robertson of Pittsburg, Percy Barrett of Toronto, George Cummings of Toronto, Donald Ball of Philadelphia, and I. S. Mackie of Fox Hills. All of these men have finished far enough up in previous tournaments to be counted as possibilities.

The Onwentsia course just now is in splendid condition and if the weather remains fine it is likely a total of 300 may be close to the winning mark.

Ravisloe golfers had a treat yesterday when National Champion Willie Anderson, former Champions Lawrence Auchterlonie and Willie Smith, and Western Open Champion Alec Smith played over the course. The last named, playing in a threesome with Ben Bensinger and C. L. Stonehill, made the 5,700 yard course in 69.

Auchterlonie and Will Smith defeated Willie Anderson and Robert White, 2 up, 1 to play. The Glen View professional had a seventy for the double round, the feature of which was his thirty-two on the in journey. His card was as follows:

First round ......4 4 5 4 5 5 4 4 3—38
Second round......3 4 3 4 3 4 3 4 4—32—70

Anderson had a 72 and Will Smith a 73. In making his 69 Smith went out in 33 and home in 36. The best previous record for the course was 71.

Alec Campbell of Boston, Stewart Gardner of Garden City, and Percy Barrett of Toronto were at the Chicago Golf club. Gardner had a 76 and Campbell a 78. Robert Foulis, the Glen Echo professional, also was out.

Most of the visiting professionals are expected to play over the Onwentsia course today.

Golfers' Green Book Is Out.

The fourth issue of the Golfers' Green Book, compiled and published by Joseph E. G. Ryan, the local golfing authority, is out. It is tastily gotten up and contains a fund of valuable information on the western golf championships and tournaments of importance and complete statistics of local clubs. The book indicates clearly the great growth of the game in this section of the country.

ACCOUNTANT MAY NOT RUN IN SWIFT STAKES TUESDAY.

Brady's Colt Would Meet Good Field, but Probably Will Be Reserved for the Advance on Saturday.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—If James B. Brady decides to start Accountant in the Swift stakes, for 3 year olds, at seven furlongs, on Tuesday, the Filigrane colt probably will meet Flip Flap, Whimsical, Inquisitor, Astronomer, King Daughter, Ormondale, Halifax, Brookdale Nymph and other good horses of that age.

But Accountant will have to take up 130 pounds, including a four pound penalty for winning the Tidal stakes, and as Mat Allen does not believe in asking too much of the horses in his care, the Filigrane colt probably will be reserved for the Advance stakes, weight for age, at one mile and three furlongs, to be run on Saturday. This will prove more of a test than did the Tidal, for Accountant will meet some of the best horses in training. Whimsical, the greatest mare under saddle this year, is one of them. She defeated Accountant in the Jockey club weight for age race at Belmont park, but the Filigrane colt did not get a good ride on that occasion, so he will have a chance to turn the tables in the Advance. Other eligibles are Tokalon, winner of the Brooklyn handicap, Proper, Bohemian, which ran second in the Tidal, Sir Huron, Oxford, Ormondale, Cairngorm, Brass Horn, Phil Finch, and Dolly Spanker. If Accountant can beat this lot Brady will have no other chance to swing his hat.

The most important 2 year old stake to be run this week is the $25,000 Great Tidal, which was won last year by Security, a rank outsider in the betting. A great race will be seen if Ballot, winner of the double event, Oran, winner of the Foam, Gretna Green, Water Pearl, Charles Edward, Yankee Gun, Bat Masterson, Red River, Don Enrique, and one or two Whitney eligibles get shown go to the post.

Two stakes will be run at the bay tomorrow. The Rosebuds, for 2 year old fillies, at five furlongs, will bring out Adoration, Clare Russell, Killiecrankie, Glamor, Woodwitch, and others. In the Grass selling, at a mile and a sixteenth on turf, Logistilla will be played to beat Mabel Richardson, Ginette, Far West, Mandarin, and others.

Was the death of Sysonby due to blood poisoning? Among racetrack men today a story was in circulation to the effect that excessive application of all sorts of medicines and remedies suggested by various doctors with different ideas helped to kill the great racehorse. Some experts have attributed the death of Sysonby to blood disease. The colt had cut his leg after one of the big races last fall, the Annual Champion, it is said, and germs of disease got into his system.

Other horse sharps have insisted that the disease rather than "horse leprosy" was contracted in another way and it was not necessarily fatal. Still more students of horse ailments have asserted that Sysonby died from the effects of poisoning, caused by the formation of an abscess on one of his fore feet, which finally filled his leg with puss, but was entirely overlooked. These theories have been set aside by a well known veterinary who has had many racehorses in his care and who made a thorough examination of Sysonby several weeks ago. "Drugs killed him," said the veterinarian today. "He was dosed to death with all sorts of quack medicines and never properly treated."

NELSON AND HERMAN TO FIGHT?

Battle of Lightweights Being Arranged to Take Place on Coast Sept. 10—Levy to Come East.

Oakland, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—Battling Nelson and "Kid" Herman of Chicago will fight in this city on the afternoon of Sept. 10. Eddie Graney said last night that Morris Levy will leave for the east in a day or two to complete the necessary arrangements. While the details as to the weight and division of the receipts have not been agreed upon, the men have virtually pledged themselves to accept the Hayes Valley club's terms and it only remains for Levy to secure their signatures to the necessary documents to bind the match.

Oldfield Arrives for Races.

Barney Oldfield is in the city, ready for the Harlem races July 3 and 4. A wire was received from Walter Christie last night that he would try to enter the big race with his front drive racer, which holds the American straightaway records. Work on the Harlem track was begun on Saturday, and the course will be in shape for speeding by Thursday.

New Pitcher for Callahan.

COUNCIL TO END CAMPION FIGHT.

Vindication for Fire Marshal Is Expected at Tonight's Session.

DUNNE RELIES ON POWER.

Mayor Must Show Strength to Prevent Aldermen Overriding His Will.

"The Campion case" is due for discussion in the city council meeting this evening. Ald. Hunt, chairman of the fire committee, said last evening he intended to bring up the committee report exonerating the fire marshal and, what was more, he expected the report to be sustained.

The promise is for the liveliest discussion the council has known for a long time, and there have been some pretty lively ones lately. The question at issue will be: "Shall or shall not the mayor be sustained?" and naturally he will call to his aid every alderman to whom he has granted favors or whom he calls his especial friend.

Mayor's Strength to Be Shown.

The vote should indicate pretty clearly how strong Mayor Dunne is with the present council. There is no chance here for him to argue that wicked corporations have influenced aldermanic votes by putting friends of the aldermen on their pay rolls. Not a corporation is interested. The only way influence of this sort should operate would be in his favor, as he will naturally expect the aldermen whose friends he has put on the city's pay rolls to support him.

It will take forty-seven votes, two-thirds of the council, to retain Fire Marshal Campion and override his suspension by the mayor. It is also generally understood, although not formally announced, that in case Campion receives the needed two-thirds he will resign so as to avoid any further complications in the department.

Confident of Passing Report.

"I intend to call up the Campion report tomorrow night," said Ald. Hunt last evening, "and am satisfied the necessary two-thirds vote to pass it will be forthcoming. That is the best information I have. As to the report that Marshal Campion will resign if vindicated I have no statement at all from him. Some of his close friends, however, have told me that would be his course."

The city hall gossip is that Ald. Hunt is correct in claiming the two-thirds majority for the report. The advocates of the "double platoon" system in the firemen's union have, however, been doing all they can to influence votes to back up the mayor. The average alderman, however, has refused to look at anything but the merits of the case, and the overwhelming opinion among them is that the mayor was wrong and the committee right.

Disobedience Charged Against Chief.

Mayor Dunne removed Fire Marshal Campion on the charge of insubordination and disobedience of orders. He claimed he had instructed the marshal to make the specifications for some new fire engines so broad that any manufacturing firm could bid.

The marshal showed the committee he had obeyed instructions as far as possible, that only one make of engine was really excluded, and that engine the city did not want at any price. The committee decided the marshal was right and reported an ordinance reinstating him. It is this report which comes up for action tonight.

"L" Express Matter Is Up.

Another matter calculated to add to the interest of the council meeting is the one permitting the Metropolitan "L" to do an express business on its lines as far east as Franklin street. It has been amended by extending the right to the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago road, which brings its cars over the Metropolitan elevated structure to the Fifth avenue terminal.

The thing which is expected to produce the discussion is a promised ordinance limiting the express rights to ten years instead of allowing them to run until 1942, when its main franchise expires.

Some time ago an ordinance was passed for the Metropolitan "L" containing this ten year limitation, but it met with sudden death. The company refused to accept it on account of the ten year clause, the mayor vetoed it for other reasons, and it fell heavily.

EVANSTON PRIEST IS HONORED.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Ordination of the Rev. Hugh P. Smyth Celebrated in St. Mary's Church.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. Hugh P. Smyth as a priest was celebrated yesterday in St. Mary's church, Evanston, of which he is pastor. High mass was celebrated at 10:30 o'clock and the Rev. J. R. Rosswinkel delivered the sermon and also spoke in eulogy of the services of Father Smyth.

A banquet was held in the afternoon in the school hall, which was attended by thirty visiting priests. The Rev. P. J. McDonnell was toastmaster. The speakers were: The Rev. Thomas P. Hodnett, the Rev. Thomas C. Judge, and the Rev. M. J. McNamee. Father Smyth responded.

An illuminated address in a gold frame was presented by the Revs. C. F. Calligan, M. S. Bonfield, P. J. McDonnell, and W. J. McNamee. Presents exceeding $1,000 in value were received by Father Smyth.

A reception will be given in honor of Father Smyth by the children of the parish in the hall of the parish school. Tonight will end the jubilee with a meeting of clerical and lay friends at which James A. Patten will present the priest with a purse of $1,000 from the members of the parish, and Charles G. Dawes, former controller of currency, will present a gift of $1,000 in gold from non-Catholic friends.

CRERAR BATTLE UP TODAY

CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS READY TO BE STARTED.

Attorney Herrick Declares All Members of the Library and Park Boards Will Be Cited for Violating Injunction—Lawyer Busby Asserts Clause in Act of Legislature of 1903 Amply Protects Officers Concerned, and Provides for Building.

Montgomery Ward's fight against the erection of the John Crerar library on the lake front, to be reopened at 10 o'clock this morning before Judge Theodore Brentano, promises to be the liveliest round in the battle which has raged over this question for sixteen years.

Few if any of the distinguished board of library trustees whom Mr. Ward proposes to have attached for contempt for ignoring the mandate of the Illinois Supreme court will be on hand when the proceedings open, it having been agreed yesterday that any writs for contempt which might be issued against them would be accepted on their behalf by Attorney Leonard A. Busby. Similar arrangements were made for the south park commissioners, who will be represented by Attorney R. P. Hollett.

Base Fight on Court Decree.

Mr. Ward and Attorney George P. Merrick will offer affidavits reciting the Supreme court decree of 1896, amplified again in 1902, authorizing the former to block the erection of any structures in Grant park. This mandate, it is claimed, was violated by the trustees and the park commissioners when A. J. Graham, the contractor, broke ground for the library last Wednesday.

This move, according to Attorney Busby, comes as no surprise to the library trustees, who, in fact, warned Mr. Ward that they proposed to expend considerable sums in the erection of this structure and wanted all obstructive litigation over and done with. They expected to be enjoined, it is said, but Attorney Merrick refused to follow that course on the grounds that the courts had already given Mr. Ward plenty of authority for his position. Then on Saturday he decided upon the contempt proceedings.

Trustees Also Cite Law.

"The act which passed the legislature in 1903 authorizing park boards to let libraries and other municipal institutions into public parks had one little clause in it that will effectually take care of Montgomery Ward," said Attorney Busby.

"That clause—we had it put in on purpose—provides that no adjoining property owner can block such a move. If he objects to the erection of a building in the park, then the authorities have the right to condemn his 'easement' and a jury of twelve men may determine just how much, in dollars and cents, such an easement is worth.

"There are some exceptionally good lawyers on the board of trustees who are confident that when the court has been informed of the legislative act of 1903 it will declare that the aforesaid act wipes out the decision of the Supreme court in 1896."

CITY GIVES WARNING AGAINST "FOURTH OF JULY LOCKJAW."

Health Department in Bulletin Cautions Victims of Wounds Against Infection and Advises Care of Physicians.

The approach of 4th of July celebrations with their attendant accidental wounds to small boys has prompted the city health department to issue a special bulletin against neglect of such wounds. Lockjaw, which causes many deaths yearly from 4th of July accidents, can be prevented, according to the bulletin, if care is exercised and proper treatment given.

"Lockjaw is caused by a microbe," the bulletin says, "which is inactive as long as exposed to air. When buried in the flesh as in the wounds caused by blank cartridges or percussion caps, the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known."

All wounds should be kept exposed to the air and a doctor called immediately, according to the bulletin's advice.

Chicago's general mortality during the last week was exceptionally small, there being but 423 deaths reported, furnishing an annual death rate of 10.76 per thousand. The hospital population also is diminishing, showing a recurrence of favorable health conditions during the cooler weather.

Food inspectors in the "loop" district condemned and destroyed 30,741 pounds of meat and other foodstuffs. At the stockyards the inspectors condemned and destroyed 148,561 pounds of meat.

GYMNASTS HOLD A 'TURNFEST'; SUNDAY THRONGS FILL PARKS.

Three Thousand Witness Performance on South Side, While Crowds Enjoy Bright Day in the Open Air.

Gymnasts of the north side and Englewood turnverein held a "turnfest" and exhibition performance at Ogden park, Sixty-fourth street and Center avenue, yesterday afternoon before 3,000 spectators. Members whose ages vagried from 7 to 40 took part in the exercises. The biennial turnfest of the Chicago district will be held at South Chicago beginning next Saturday.

The bright weather of the first summer Sunday caused the parks and boulevards to be thronged. Everybody was outdoors and everybody was happy.

Like every Chicago crowd, the throngs were democratic. On the roadways automobiles rubbed wheels with "livery rigs" and on the sidewalks small girls, proudly wearing their Sunday finery and extremely conscious of it, guarded it carefully from the ragged urchins who were everywhere present.

On the north side the toy balloon men were kept busy and sweethearts were numerous along the lake shore.

WIN GAME, BUT ARE ARRESTED.

Ball Players Seized While Enjoying the Spoils of the Game, a Keg of Beer.

Victory had its drawbacks yesterday for the baseball team of Patrick McNamara, proprietor of a saloon at Miller and Taylor streets. The team and nine loyal adherents were arrested by three policemen and taken to the Maxwell street station as they were in the act of enjoying the spoils of the game, a half barrel of beer.

McNamara some time ago equipped a baseball team, which bears his name. Harry Martin, another saloonkeeper at 2 Elburn avenue, also has a baseball team. Rivalry between the two "nines" for some time has been intense.

Yesterday it culminated in a game at Harrison and Loomis streets, which McNamara's team won by a score of 23 to 15. While the beer was being distributed the patrol wagon appeared. Members blamed the rival team for their arrest.

Forget him? No, we never shall.
We loved him here and love him still.
Nor love him less because he is gone from here to his eternal home.
Yet we miss him.
O, how sadly, none but our aching hearts can tell.
We have lost him and heaven has found him—
Our Father who does all things well.

REAL ESTATE—COUNTRY.

FOR SALE—7 SECTIONS IN NORTH DAKOTA.
I offer for sale seven sections of western North Dakota land at a bargain price. All good, level land. Every acre fit for cultivation. These sections were carefully selected, and are the choice of an original tract of over 100,000 acres.
This land is in a section where a Chicago syndicate of well known business men recently invested in thousands of acres.
The Northern Pacific is now constructing a line which will run within a few miles of the sections I am offering. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway's transcontinental line will pass through this part of North Dakota, and land in this section will double in value before next fall.
Land is now retailing for $10 to $15 per acre and advancing in value rapidly.
Price of these seven sections, if taken at once, is $7 per acre, $3 per acre cash, balance to suit purchaser.
If you are interested call or telephone me at Stratford Hotel, Monday and Tuesday, for further particulars.
After that time address St. Paul office.
WILLIAM EGELAND, 710-711 New York Life Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

THE STEGER PIANOLENO
Combines in one case a perfect piano and perfect player. It can be played by hand or by the insertion of a perforated music roll, and gives the operator full scope in the performance of all classical music with perfect expression, without any previous knowledge of music. The Pianoleno embodies nothing of an experimental nature, but has been fully developed according to the best known principles of pneumatics.
We sell direct as manufacturers, thus saving the buyer all commissions and middlemen's profits.
Old instruments taken in exchange.
Reasonable terms of payment can be arranged.
A visit incurs no obligation to buy.

WHEAT IN NARROW RANGE.

NEITHER SIDE MAKES HEADWAY IN WEEK'S OPERATIONS.

Weather and Harvesting Conditions Principal Factors of Influence—Both Factions Confident and Cautious—Bulls See Hope in Foreign News—Generous Rains and More Favorable Crop Reports Depress Corn and Oats Values.

Wheat moved nervously within a range of about 2c last week, the trade at times being brisk and interesting and at other times dull and devoid of notable feature. Changes in speculative sentiment were quick and numerous, but neither side made much definite headway at any time. The week end quotations showed advances of ½@⅝c for July, ¼c for September, and 1⅛c for December over the final prices of the previous week. Weather and harvesting conditions were the principal factors of influence, although foreign news and statistics played an important part in the shaping of the markets.

Reports from both the winter and spring regions were pro and con, the bulls finding much in them to encourage their efforts and the bears seeing further indications that ultimate results would fulfill their arguments for lower prices. Those who would have values go to a higher level declared that the heavy rains had worked greater damage in the sections where the harvester is in action and in parts where the grain is about ready for the cutter than is generally supposed. The bears, on the other hand, contended that harvesting conditions were highly favorable, and that the southwest would give a satisfactory account of itself in the matter of production. At times in the course of the week there were free offerings of the new grain, but some advices from the southwestern markets indicated no marked disposition on the part of farmers to sell at the prices offered. It is figured that the movement of the new grain will not be in full swing before the end of three weeks.

Foreign News Encourages Bulls.

While there were no marked changes in the situation abroad, bulls saw much on the horizon to encourage them. Decreasing shipments from the Argentine and another sharp loss in the amount of supplies on ocean passage were given considerable significance. Generally speaking, crop conditions abroad were favorable, although some countries cabled in their complaints of unsatisfactory progress. Domestically the all important influences were the weather and harvesting conditions. There were occasional spurts of activity in the cash situation, but men familiar with matters pertaining to the flour industry declared that changes were insignificant.

Rains Depress Corn Values.

Generous rains throughout important sections of the belt weighed heavily on the speculative corn market, and the bears took liberties freely on the short side. Although the pessimists played vigorously on the arrival of the needed moisture, some caution was exercised because of the general coolness of the weather. The "farmers" among the bulls insisted that the temperatures were much too low for the good of the growing plant. "Agriculturists" of the other side, however, made up their minds that satisfactory progress was being made, and that everything indicated a big yield.

Oats Lower on Moisture.

Conditions similar to those in the corn situation prevailed in the oats market. The generous rains and more favorable reports on the progress of the growing crop lent strong color to bearish sentiment and endeavor and worked for material recessions in prices. There was a good deal of "money and muscle" that stood in the way of greater pressure from the bears than was shown. The more timid shorts moved cautiously, the good shipping demand and the decreasing surplus of the old yield being factors that held them in check. At the beginning of the period the visible supply of oats was only about 700,000 bu in excess of that of the corresponding time in 1905. The amount in local public houses was not more than 626,000 bu.

Provisions Are Weaker.

Weakness of the coarser grains had much to do toward shaping a lower tendency in the market for hog products. There was some effort to boost pork values in the hope of effecting a sympathetic response in the rest of the list, but the general support did not materialize sufficiently to prevent an easier undertone. Increased receipts of hogs and what the bears were pleased to term a weakening of the cash inquiry for meats and lard were depressing influences. The shipments of meats and lard from Chicago, however, continued largely in excess of those of a year ago.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, June 24.—The supplies of money were abundant yesterday and the demand was poor. Discounts were a shade harder in view of the possibility of gold exports.

Trading on the stock exchange was dull, but the tone was steadier. Consols were maintained. Home rails were fractionally harder, while Russians closed with a better tone.

Americans were marked up at the opening in sympathy with Wall street. The improvement continued on moderate local buying. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, and United States Steel received the most attention. Kaffirs were dull. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 closed at 102.

BERLIN, June 24.—Prices on the boerse yesterday were quiet. Russians were strong under St. Petersburg influence.

PARIS, June 24.—Prices on the bourse yesterday were firm, Russians advancing. The market closed steady. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 77.90 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 489. The private rate of discount was 2 13-16 per cent.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 24.—The tone on the bourse yesterday was confident. Imperial 4s and 5s were in good demand at Friday's figures.

IN THE FINANCIAL WORLD.

PRICES OF STOCKS MADE CHIEFLY BY MANIPULATORS.

One Well Known Group of Speculators Has Done Some Extensive Selling—Bonds Continue Stagnant—Call Funds Cheap in New York and Rule at 5 Per Cent in Chicago—Weakness in Diamond Match on Local Exchange.

Market conditions show no noteworthy change. The making of prices continues to be a matter of manipulation. It is believed there has been considerable selling in an important quarter. There is one well known group of speculators some of the members of which have sold great quantities of stocks. From no quarter is it asserted that the large interests have been taking on securities.

The bond market continues stagnant. Of this latter fact the floating of the Pennsylvania $50,000,000 bond issue in Paris affords illustration, and this sale, coupled with the increases in dividends of the subsidiary companies of the Pennsylvania railroad company, indicates the necessity of the Pennsylvania helping its credit abroad. The distribution of $50,000,000 bonds should be much facilitated by announcements of increased earnings and increased dividends by the railroads which the Pennsylvania controls.

At the same time if conditions had been right in this country it would not have been necessary to go to France to dispose of securities of a corporation whose credit has always stood as high as has that of the Pennsylvania railroad. While the transaction will undoubtedly open the French market more largely to American issues it is still a bear card on the New York situation.

The increase in the Baltimore and Ohio dividends was naturally touted as a bull factor. But when the reason for the increase is inquired into there is no suggested occasion for becoming bullish on any other security. What the Pennsylvania has done with two of its controlled properties it may be expected to do with more.

Money Fairly Easy.

The money market shows no improvement, though at the moment call funds are cheap in New York and rule at 5 per cent in Chicago. The statement of the local national banks showed the larger institutions to be in fair condition as regards reserve requirements. But it was manifest that the banks had specially strengthened themselves to meet the call of the controller. The state banks are well loaned up and they have made considerable gains in deposits in the last nine weeks.

Bank Statement.

The bank statement Saturday was a fairly good one, though it failed to favorably influence stock exchange prices. There was a good gain in cash and a moderate increase in deposits. If the figures reflected anything, it was the general dullness in the market. The statement:

Reserve increased	$3,839,550

Renewed Weakness in Match.

In the Chicago stock market there developed weakness in Diamond Match. In the previous week there was a relatively large buying order in the market and the price showed some improvement. But with the end of the special buying the price began moving downward. The liquidation is continuous and comes from investors. The lots are usually small.

Swift & Co. shares grew steady around 102. Aside from the small holdings of employés the bulk of the stock is held by the Swift family here and in Boston. They are able, without much effort, to fairly support the stock.

Chicago Edison dropped to 141, a decline due to the failure of the company to secure the passage of an ordinance in its favor by the city council. It is now the announced purpose of the city to arrange a schedule of rates and seek to have them legally enforced. Naturally such a schedule will be lower than any the company would offer, and the latter may be expected to exhaust its legal rights in the premises.

Chicago Telephone.

There was little doing in Chicago Telephone. The company declared the usual quarterly rate of 2½ per cent. It is the theory of the management that since the company is earning its dividend it should be paid until such time as the earning power may be changed through some franchise grant. But it may be well enough to consider the drift of sentiment in the city council toward granting revocable licenses instead of franchises, and thereby keeping the corporation on its good behavior. The street railroads do not now expect a franchise but a license, and if the Chicago Telephone company secures only a license it may be expected to have its rates put to a point where it will not be able to pay 10 per cent.

Bank Share Quotations.

Trade in Wholesale Lines.

Trade in wholesale and jobbing lines showed more activity the last week, in many instances, than is customary at this season. The large volume of reorders as well as the unusual amount of forward bookings caused an abnormally brisk business in many lines which as a general thing are dull at this season.

Sales of fall goods were satisfactory in nearly all branches of business, and there was no letup reported in the distribution of seasonable goods. Railway earnings showed a marked increase compared to the same week last year, indicating a continued heavy movement of general merchandise. Grain marketings were larger, especially corn. The movement of this cereal, both from first hands and for shipment east, was particularly heavy, and indications pointed to a still heavier business the coming week.

The wholesale trade in provisions was active, shipments of cured meats being about 50 per cent larger than during the corresponding week of last year. Lard shipments also were large. Live stock was received in larger numbers than recently.

The inquiry for all kinds of building supplies, glass, and paints and oils showed no abatement, the demand being almost unprecedented.

Pig Iron Market.

Regarding the pig iron market, David Evans & Co. said in their weekly letter:

"While the prices on all the leading brands of southern pig iron have been reduced to the level of the lowest prices heretofore obtainable on any kind of southern pig iron, to those closely in touch with the situation it is well known that no actual necessity for this unexpected decline really exists. Those furnaces which, up to one week ago, were selling No. 2 pig iron at $13.25 and $13.50, Birmingham basis, finding themselves unable to keep up on their deliveries, were beginning to ask themselves if they were not making a mistake. There has never been a time in the history of the trade when such low prices as are being made today have gone hand in hand with such low stocks. The present befuddled market has been created solely by the attempt of the leading southern producers to introduce two different schedules, one for the east and one for the west, the western schedule to be 50c higher than the eastern."

The confidence of its depositors is a great source of strength to any bank.

The Merchants' Loan and Trust Company has built up a large banking business owing to the confidence of the depositors in its method of conservative and safe banking, which have enabled it to successfully withstand every banking calamity known to the history of this country during the past fifty years.

It withstood the panic of 1859. The great civil war of 1861-65. Chicago fire of 1871. Panic of 1873. Panic of 1893.

The Merchants' Loan and Trust Company has a Capital and Surplus of $6,500,000. Its growth has been steady and of a permanent character. The deposits now exceed $50,000,000.

The Merchants' Loan and Trust Company was established in 1857 and is the "oldest bank" in Chicago.

The Board of Directors are: Cyrus H. McCormick, Lambert Tree, Moses H. Wentworth, Thies J. Lefens, E. H. Gary, Orson Smith, Albert Keep, Erskine M. Phelps, Enos M. Barton, Chauncey Keep, Clarence A. Burley, E. D. Hulbert.

The Merchants' Loan and Trust Company cordially invites you to become a depositor.

Saving deposits received during the first 10 days of July (up to and including July 13) will draw interest from July 1st.

That period is a particularly advantageous time for you to open a new savings account.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & CO.
·Pre-Inventory Sales·

THAT the motive urging these highly important semi-annual pre-inventory sales is a reasonable one in its conception is, we think, quite universally acknowledged, namely—the reducing of stocks to the lowest possible level before listing on our books the thirtieth day of June. Every section of the store is keenly alert to the great necessity of co-operating to produce such a desirable condition, and bends all energy to accomplish it by the compelling force of an extreme reduction in prices—hence the natural cause and very probable effect of our "pre-inventory sales." Many lines are, per force, not advertised herewith, yet unusual values are offered in practically all the stocks. Time shortens! If you would avail of the splendidly favorable conditions of the lowered prices existing now on merchandise of reliable quality you must act promptly—there are but six days left before the inventory.

Fancy Goods
Reduced Prices

Many odd lots marked at prices that only prevail because of the pre-inventory clearance.

Tinted pillow tops in floral and conventional designs, reduced from 35c and 50c to 25c.

Summer pillow slips in effective patterns, ready for use, each, 89c.

The Last Six Days of Our Pre-Inventory Sale of Women's Waists, Suits, Costumes, Coats and Children's Apparel Present Exceptional Values

It has never been our good fortune to offer (or, we believe, vours to receive) such splendid values in high grade ready-to-wear apparel for women, misses and children as is compelled by this Pre-Inventory Sale. The exceedingly important fact that there are but six days before stock taking, in which to accomplish our purpose, is alone responsible for the average price reductions of fifty per cent—in some cases it is even more than that. The following items should quicken your interest in the unusual savings:

French and Lingerie Waists Reduced One-Half

Final and pre-inventory reductions on all our French and fine lingerie waists, made with high or low necks and long or short sleeves and open back or front. All sizes are embraced in the entire assortment, the former prices of which are reduced exactly one-half, more surely to effect the desired purpose of a decided reduction in the stock before inventory June thirtieth. Fourth floor.
